BANKERS LOOK FOR DECLINE IN BUSINESS

Chief Effect of High Money Rates Is Psychological Attitude
VARIOUS VIEWPOINTS
Chicago Financiers Think Half Billion New Credit Is Necessary

Chicago — Investigation of the sentiment of bankers and business men toward recent developments in the Federal Reserve policy heads to the conclusion that while business has not as yet suffered perceptibly from high money rates there is a psychological anticipation of a slowing up of activity.

Reports of an intended expansion of credit to take care of seasonal requirements at the end of this month have not yet been accepted here as forecasting a trend though it is estimated that it will take $500,000,000 of new credit to handle the needs of the country and it is assumed that purchases of bankers' acceptances will have to increase rapidly to permit such credit expansion.

The character of the Chicago situation is that the principal bankers reveal themselves as more or less bewildered. Some of them unhesitatingly criticize the Federal Reserve authorities for forcing the discount rate down too far originally and argue that the system of direct pressure recently applied is causing no end of irritation between them and their customers and a loss of business good will.

Almost unanimous condemnation is heard of speculative excesses but the arguments given by Washington against collateral loans is bitterly assailed as unsound and academic especially as it is pointed out that commercial loans for three years have been decreasing while the security loans have developed an entirely new demand on banks. In the last few weeks country banks have been compelled to increase their borrowing while their deposits have gradually dropped. There is evidence that even the larger city banks are trying to use Chicago as a transfer point for some of the

Kohler Declares It Hasn't Favor OF CITIZENS

Governor Says Consideration Must Be Given to Effect on Public

Madison—(P)—Gov. Walter J. Kohler today returned to the senate without his approval of the Blanchard bill requiring one dollar licenses of all Wisconsin citizens over 18 years old who fish.

Governor Kohler said he vetoed the bill because "it has not the approval of the majority of our citizens."

The governor's complete veto statement, sent to the senate this morning, only 20 minutes before the time would have expired in which the bill would have automatically become law, said:

"The main argument for the bill is that it will bring in a very large annual revenue, which 'shall be used for the purpose of propagating fish and game and enforcing laws pertaining to fish and game.'"

"I have respect for the view of those who support this bill and who are interested in fish and game. I have given, however, to the effect of the bill in all of its aspects upon the daily lives of our citizens."

REASONS FOR VETO
"The bill provides for a license fee, which is in effect a tax of $1 per annum on each Wisconsin man and woman over 18 years of age who fishes within the state, and imposes severe penalties ranging from $5 to $50 fine for each infraction of the law."

"It taxes the citizens irrespective of the number of times he fishes, of the kind or number of fish he catches."

"It taxes the farmer who fishes in waters adjoining his own land."

"It taxes those who fish to augment the family food supply, as well as the thousands of men and women who occasionally go on family outings and fish merely as an incidental pastime."

"While the underlying purpose of this bill is good, I am convinced that it will cause inconveniences and hardships, and that it has not the approval of the majority of our citizens. Therefore I am returning the bill without my signature."

The senate must now vote on whether it will pass the bill over the governor's veto.

VETOES DRAINAGE BILL
Governor Kohler's veto of the dollar fish license bill today was accompanied by another disapproval, the fourth of the legislative session. He returned to the assembly without his approval Assemblyman J. C. Hanson's bill, providing that on petition of the owners representing a majority of the confirmed benefits in a farm drainage district the county court shall order no new work on the project, the order not, however, to affect existing contracts.

DEATH SENTENCE FOR MAN IN "TORCH MURDER"
Elizabeth, N. J.—(P)—Henry Colin Campbell today was found guilty of murder in the first degree in the torch slaying of Mrs. Mildred Morry, his bigamous wife. The verdict contained no recommendation for mercy. By failing to recommend mercy, the jury made a sentence of death in the electric chair obligatory.

FORMER PREMIER WINS IN S. AFRICA ELECTION
Capetown, Union of South Africa—(P)—General Jan Christian Smuts, opposition leader and former premier, was re-elected to the house of assembly for Standerton, Transvaal, at yesterday's general elections.

Schafer Asks For Study Of Dry Officer Methods

Washington—(P)—Creation of a joint congressional committee to study methods of enforcing prohibition laws by federal officials was asked in a resolution today Representative Schafer, Republican, Wisconsin.

He proposed a $25,000 appropriation to meet expenses. Schafer has been active in denouncing recent shootings by federal officers in prohibition enforcement.

The measure declared the "excessive toll" of lives taken by federal agents, had culminated in an "assassination" at International Falls, Minn., and "caused the citizens of the republic to be fearful that their lives may be snuffed out at any time they traverse the public highways."

Congressional irritation over the use of guns by federal agents enforcing prohibition laws was regarded today as having been alleviated slightly, but only slightly, by the finding of Representative Robert B. Clancy of Michigan, in his personal investigation of the fatal shooting of Archibald Eugster, 21, on the banks of the Detroit river.

Eugster's death was the second within a week since the intensification of the government's effort to stop liquor smuggling across the Canadian border and aroused considerable unfavorable comment in congress. Clancy, who demanded a thorough investigation by the attorney general and went to Detroit to look into the matter with Representative Clarence J. McLeod of Michigan, announced there last night that he had found the shooting justified.

Vetoed Dollar Fish License House REJECTS FARM DEBENTURE

Judge Tells Solons Loan Tale Is True

Also Admits That it Was "Bad Debt" but Denies Corruption Charge

BY ROBERT L. RIGGS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)
Madison—(P)—Circuit Judge E. B. Belden, Racine, freely admitted to the assembly's judiciary committee Wednesday that in 1915 he borrowed $20,000 from Z. G. Simmons, Kenosha.

With equal readiness Belden admitted that in 1919 Mr. Simmons struck the sum from his accounts as a bad debt. The admissions were made for Belden by his counsel, Thomas M. Kearney, Sr., Racine, with the judge seated by his side in the committee room.

William Quick, attorney for Macco M. Kuens, Kenosha, who is seeking Belden's impeachment, declared the inclusion of the plan in the bill in order that the house members could be recorded on it. Today's action was regarded by administration leaders as paving the way for a recession by the senate in its stand and a quick transmittal of a relief measure, minus the debenture to the White House.

ACT QUICKLY
Calling of the more than 400 names of the house members started a few minutes after Speaker Longworth rapped for order at noon.

Chairman Haugen of the agriculture committee, raised the question by moving the house instruction to its members of the farm conference committee to insist upon rejection of the proposition.

Hardly had Haugen started speaking before shouts of "Vote! Vote! Vote!" rang through the chamber. Under the rules an hour's debate was in order, but members clamored incessantly for the ballot.

The house acted on a bill largely of its own making. It had been passed early in the session to set up stabilization corporations to handle the problem of the farm surpluses. The senate inserted into it a plan whereby debenture certificates could be issued on exports of agricultural products and be redeemed by importers who could use them in paying duties.

Neither President Hoover nor the house would agree to the idea and the house conferees stood fast against senate pressure for it.

The motion on which the vote was taken read:

"Resolved that the conferees of the house on the disagreeing vote of the two houses on the disagreeing vote of the two houses on H. R. 1 (official designation of the farm bill) be instructed in conference to insist upon the striking out of Section 101 of the so-called debenture plan."

Although Haugen raised the farm question today, the actual motion was to reject the plan.

REAPPORTIONMENT BILL IS APPROVED BY SENATE

Washington—(P)—The senate today approved the census-reapportionment bill and sent to the White House the first of the major legislative proposals of the extra session.

By a vote of 48 to 37, the conference report adjusting differences with the house was adopted. The house previously had acted.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH ON ROAD AT WAUKESHA

Waukesha—(P)—Two persons were killed late Wednesday night when an automobile driven by Edward Johnson, Wauwatosa, struck a telephone pole on highway 18 near here.

Mrs. William Thiel, wife of the superintendent of the Waukesha Motor company, and William A. McDonald, 55, Wauwatosa, were the victims.

According to a report made at the sheriff's office, the party was on its way to the Thiel summer home at Genesee lake. The automobile turned over after striking the pole. Johnson and his wife suffered minor injuries.

BACKS HOOVER BY MORE THAN 2 TO 1 VOTE

Party Leaders Believe That Way Is Now Clear for Senate Action

Washington—(P)—The house today backed up the views of President Hoover by rejecting the export debenture plan of farm relief. The vote was 250 to 113.

The debenture proposition, which Mr. Hoover had attacked twice in public statements and which he had termed a subsidy, was voted down on a roll call vote taken at the insistence of the senate which had approved it on two occasions.

A number of senators had been represented, however, as demanding the inclusion of the plan in the bill in order that the house members could be recorded on it. Today's action was regarded by administration leaders as paving the way for a recession by the senate in its stand and a quick transmittal of a relief measure, minus the debenture to the White House.

FIND STILL IN HOME OF ACCIDENT VICTIM

Kenosha—(P)—When a North Shore train struck and killed William Kolbasnik, 49, near here today, it revealed him as the operator of one of the largest stills ever seized in Kenosha.

Officers who went to the scene of the accident to investigate, approached a house, standing some 50 feet from the right of way. Finding no one at home they entered the place.

It was then that they stumbled on the alleged alcohol plant. They found a large still, three boiling vats and a considerable amount of other equipment.

Effects of the dead man, found by Coroner A. B. Schmitz, in the wreckage of the car, indicated that he was the operator of the plant. He is survived by his widow and six children, the oldest of whom is 14.

PEACE JUSTICE FINED ON DRUNKENNESS COUNT

Marquette, Mich.—(P)—Justice of the Peace G. H. Erickson was fined on the village bench at Deerton today, but $14.60 of his money remained here to further the ends of justice in Marquette.

The justice involuntarily met Judge C. F. Button in court here and after many heated exclamations paid a fine of $10 and costs of $4.60 for being drunk.

State Trooper O'Boyle arrested Erickson on the Deerton road after finding a bottle of liquor in the pocket of the law. Erickson protested the arrest of a justice of the peace and then brought before Judge Button said:

"I wasn't drunk! I'm the justice of the peace at Deerton."

Dawes To Discuss Proposed Visit Of Britain's Premier

London—(P)—It was stated authoritatively today that Ambassador Dawes would travel to Scotland Sunday to meet Premier MacDonald at Forres, a little town 17 miles from Lossiemouth, where the premier is spending a short vacation.

The new ambassador will be received by King George at Windsor castle Saturday when he will present his credentials, the presentation taking place possibly within 48 hours of his landing at Southampton from the Olympic.

This province is necessary according to the code observed by diplomats which would not sanction an interview with the prime minister prior to presentation to his majesty.

At Lossiemouth Mr. MacDonald told an prospective visitor: "We shall meet over the luncheon table and in the short space of three or four hours great questions of Anglo-American cooperation in the cause of disarmament and permanent peace will be opened."

It was said plans for the premier's projected visit to the United States depended upon the message brought him by Ambassador Dawes, who was assumed generally to have been authorized to convey a cordial invitation to Mr. MacDonald.

Mr. MacDonald, it was understood, would be guided by General Dawes as regards the program of his visit, and the scope of his discussions while in the United States would depend upon the ambassador's advice.

The Daily Herald, Labor organ today said the enthusiasm with which the suggestion of a conference between the premier and President Hoover had been greeted was a good augury for the mission's success.

"No one," the paper said, "is more conscious than the prime minister and his foreign secretary that the problem of Anglo-American relations is a complex one, and even a straight talk between the prime minister and the president cannot resolve all the difficulties in the twinkling of an eye."

"The coming to power of new governments both at Washington and London will be a factor in the projected visit."

COOLIDGE IS NOT KEEN ABOUT LIFE DEVOTED TO PEN

New York—(P)—Calvin Coolidge, in an interview published in the New York World today, disclosed that writing as a career had no appeal to him.

Mr. Coolidge, who was in New York to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance company, was asked whether he liked to write.

"I don't," he said. "Oh, I don't find it so difficult to sit and write about something that I know very well, such as my own life, but a career of writing"—and he left the sentence unfinished.

The former president also disclosed that all his writing is done in longhand.

HUNT ABDUCTORS OF OFFICIAL IN IDAHO

Thousands Join Search for Men Who Tied Up Lieutenant Governor

Orfino, Idaho—(P)—Several thousand men and boys searched this mountainous country today for the four young bandits who yesterday abducted W. B. Kinne, lieutenant-governor of Idaho, and two men who attempted to rescue him.

Kinne escaped uninjured after he had been tied to a tree by his abductors. W. L. Tibbley, of an Idaho lumber association, and Paul Kille, a lumber worker, attempted to rescue Kinne when the bandits halted his automobile. Kille was shot in the leg and clubbed over the head and Tibbley was badly beaten.

Holberry and the theft of Kinne's automobile apparently were the motives for the abduction.

The cottages were all located near Rocky Point and were destroyed just two weeks after the owner had received an anonymous letter threatening destruction of the cottages.

"Don't rent your cottages to the people you did last year," the letter said. "If you do, they will be burned down."

Manuel Metzger, the owner of the cottages and the recipient of the letter, turned the letter over to police and postal inspectors.

The Pocatello fire department called after Robert Swift discovered the fire, had difficulty in fighting the fire because the cottages were several hundred feet back from the lake, the only available water supply. Metzger said the cottage community represented an investment of $25,000.

COTTAGES AT PEWAUKEE BURNED BY INCENDIARIES

Incendiaries carried out a threat early today by burning 10 cottages on Pewaukee lake, a favorite refuge for Milwaukeeans during the summer months.

The cottages were all located near Rocky Point and were destroyed just two weeks after the owner had received an anonymous letter threatening destruction of the cottages.

SCHUMANN THREATENS AGRICULTURAL DEAN

Madison—(P)—A threat to introduce a resolution calling for the resignation of Dear H. L. Russell, and a "house cleaning" of the entire college of agriculture was made in the upper house today by Sen. John C. Schumann, Watertown, champion of farm relief.

Milwaukeean Is Slain By Bandit Trio

Two Other Men Severely Beaten in Holdup of Rooming House

Milwaukee—(P)—Three robbers pushed their way into the hallway of a rooming house here early today, slugged one man to death and severely beat two others.

The dead man is Patrick Daley, 53, a roomer at the house owned by Matt Lenihan. Lenihan and John Murphy, 50, were slugged by the robbers and are now at Emergency hospital.

According to Murphy's story of the assault, Daley and he were standing in the hallway of the house shortly after midnight. Lenihan had come downstairs to bolt the door when the three men pushed their way in.

After being beaten, their pockets were rifled. Murphy said, Daley managed to get to his room after the robbers left but he died at Emergency hospital of a fractured skull at 2 o'clock.

A crowd of 15 men living in the marine district of the city followed the assault. Capt. Harry McCreary of the detective bureau, will question them today. They were described as about 25 to 40 years old and were believed to be residents of the marine district.

DENY REPORT PRINCE WILL MARRY INGRID

London—(P)—The Daily Mail today said an unnamed "high court official" had denied emphatically that there was a word of truth in reports linking the name of Prince Ingrid of Sweden with members of the English royal family.

Reports published abroad that they might soon be an announcement of the engagement of the Swedish princess and the Prince of Wales were said to be particularly vexatious to court circles.

The prince is expected to be a guest tomorrow night at an elaborate ball given in the princess' honor at the Swedish legation.

HUGE CROWD GATHERS FOR RACKOW CASE

Hearing Transferred to Larger Court Room at Fond du Lac Trial

Fond du Lac—(P)—Swept out of the modest little municipal court room here, by the largest crowd of spectators that ever poured into the courthouse, the murder hearing of Arthur E. Rackow, accused of poisoning his wife, got under way in the more spacious circuit court chamber here today.

The municipal court room was impassable long before Judge G. M. Felleus entered the chamber. He immediately ordered the hearing transferred to the more commodious circuit court. But even this, with its several hundred seats, was insufficient for the crowd that overflowed into all parts of the building.

As the hearing got under way, the crowd continued to increase, deputies virtually being helpless to stem its rush into the room. The industry leading to the second floor of the building, where the court room is located, was torn down. A woman, caught in the pressure of the jam, fainted in the court room and attaches had to use football tactics to get her into the open.

PHYSICIAN TESTIFIES
The first witness called to the stand was Dr. J. H. Hargrove of Eden, who was called by Mrs. E. C. Rackow, mother of the accused, when the latter's wife became ill.

He testified that the woman was having spasms when he arrived and that he ordered her immediate removal to St. Agnes hospital in Fond du Lac. At that time, he said, the older Mrs. Rackow said that her daughter-in-law had been taking "pain-killers" tablets.

She produced a box of capsules, which she showed to him as the drug that the woman was taking, he said. A bit later her husband also offered to show him the "pills" that his wife had taken. The doctor said that they were not the same as those shown him by the elder woman.

Questions asked by Dist. Atty. L. E. Gooding indicated that he is seeking to show that poison was administered to the woman even after she was removed to the hospital, court attaches said.

DIES IN HOSPITAL
The district attorney pointed out that the post mortem examination revealed a sufficient amount of poison to cause death within 15 minutes. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Rackow did not die for several hours after her removal to the institution. He also pointed out that her husband was in the hospital room with her.

Dr. D. N. Walters, Fond du Lac, who was immediately called into consultation in the case by Dr. Hargrove, and who precipitated Rackow's arraignment on a murder charge when he refused to sign a death certificate without an autopsy, was to take the stand later in the day. Dr. E. L. Theriault, Milwaukee specialist who aided in the investigation, was also to be a witness for the state today.

LOYD GEORGE CHOSEN LIBERAL PARTY CHIEF

London—(P)—David Lloyd George was unanimously elected chairman and leader of the Liberal party at the first meeting of the Liberal members of the new parliament today.

The Liberal met at the National Liberal Club to consider the various matters of importance and the role of the party toward the new Labour government.

Lloyd George's daughter Megan, his only Liberal woman in parliament, and his son, Major Glynne Lloyd George, who is a member from Pembroke, sat on the platform with their father.

FIND STRANGLED GIRL; COPS HUNT FIANCE

Port Huron, Mich.—(P)—Beatrice Fry, 17, was found strangled at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Fry, here last night, and Alfred Leune, 22, of London, Ont., the girl's fiance, is being hunted by police in Michigan and Ontario.

The girl was thought to have been strangled first by hands and then by an electric light cord wrapped about her neck.

Mrs. Fry and her fiance are known to have quarreled Wednesday morning. Police investigation revealed that Leune left the house shortly before noon and later boarded an interurban car for Detroit.

YELLOW BIRD STARTS TRIP ACROSS OCEAN

Three Frenchmen Make Beautiful Takeoff from Maine Runway

GREEN FLASH CRASHES Yancey, Williams of U. S. Plane Are Not Injured in Accident

Old Orchard, Me.—(P)—The Yellow Bird, Latham, had been reported for more than three hours at 2:30 this afternoon. No fears were expressed for its safety however.

The French monoplane, with three young Frenchmen aboard, this noon was believed to be winging its way over the Atlantic on its way to Paris after a take off from the beach here.

The light keeper at Matinicus rock 25 miles out of sea and about 50 miles east along the Maine coast from Old Orchard, reported that the yellow plane passed over at 11:12 a. m. (E. S. T.) just one hour and five minutes after it took to the air here.

Old Orchard, Me.—(P)—One of two transatlantic airplanes, got away to a good start today for Paris, but the second, destined for Rome, crashed before she left the ground.

The Yellow Bird, huge French monoplane, manned by a crew of three young Frenchmen, made a beautiful take off and sped away to the east, accompanied by a coast guard amphibian.

The Green Flash, American plane, with an American crew, nosed over on the beach and swerved into a ground loop about midway of her run. The ground loop turned her nose directly about.

Lewis A. Hancey and Roger G. Williams of the American plane, were not injured. The Green Flash, which duplicated its accident of two weeks ago today, at that time one of the wheels dropped into soft sand and caused it to ground loop, but only the wheel and a few stay wires were damaged. The plane was traveling at a much higher rate of speed today.

The French plane met away two weeks ago but was forced to return after 20 minutes because of a leak in the main fuel tank.

USE MIXED FUEL
The Yellow Bird today was using a mixture of benzol and gasoline. The benzol was put in the fuel to reduce the detonation and vibration which caused the leak on the first take off. The mixture will be about 10 per cent benzol for the first 100 miles of flight; it then will be cut to 20 per cent and later to 30 per cent.

The crew of the Yellow Bird were: Almona Lott, Jr., sponsor and copilot; Jean Assolant, pilot; and Le-Pont, navigator. Assistant, a 23-year-old pilot (referred to) youth, was injured three days ago at Miss Pauline Barker of New York. She accompanied him on the beach this morning and was very grave as she saw him get into the plane and saw the plane start down the hard packed sands of the beach.

REPORT STOWAWAY ABOARD PLANE OF FRENCH AVIATORS

Old Orchard, Me.—(P)—Rumors that a youth had stowed away in the yellow bird before it took off for Paris today received some credence this afternoon.

Arthur Schreiber, 22, of Portland, was taken by two other youths to have crawled into the big plane while the motor was being warmed up.

A youth named Clark called at the Schreiber home and told Mrs. Morris E. Schreiber that he and Schreiber tried to stow away but that only Schreiber was successful.

Mrs. Schreiber said her son came home late Wednesday night and donned khaki pants and a leather jacket. Two men, who claimed they saw a stowaway enter the ship said he wore such clothes.

DENIES FARMER STANDS IN NEED OF AID BILL

Washington — (AP) — A denial that American farmers are suffering from agricultural depression was made today by A. B. Enoch of Chicago, representing western railroads, before the Interstate Commerce commission in its investigation on freight rates on grain and grain products.

The investigation is being made under the provisions of the Hoch-Smith resolution whereby congress directed the commission to put into effect the lowest possible lawful rate consistent with service as a farm relief measure.

When Enoch made his statement Commissioner Eastman inquired: "Do you think we can accept that statement when congress is in special session at the present moment at the request of the farmers to enact farm relief legislation?"

"You can," Enoch replied. "I think the record in this case shows there was complete recovery in 1925."

Discussing the proposal by the Kansas City southern to transport wheat from Kansas City to the Gulf for 23 1/2 cents, Enoch said the railroad could not move the grain at this figure if their revenue paid its share of operating expenses.

4,544 Outagamie-Co Citizens Will Pay $116,915.02 In Income Taxes This Year

A total of $116,915.02 in income taxes is to be collected from 4,544 individuals in Outagamie-co, according to a report of Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. This is an increase of about $12,000 over 1928 when the total income tax roll was $104,556.78.

Collection of taxes was started in earnest Wednesday when taxpayers began receiving their statements which had been placed in the mails Tuesday by Miss Ziegenhagen.

On Wednesday the total collection amounted to $2,351.52. The smallest tax collection was 28 cents while the largest was $416.

With each of the statements which the treasurer issued Tuesday there were return envelopes so that taxpayers need merely fill out a check, enclose their statement, and return it to the treasurer. Receipts are then issued by mail. Collections will be made up to July 1 and after that date all delinquents must pay a penalty of 2 per cent per month plus regular interest. During the

REPORT AGREEMENT IN CHURCH DISPUTE

Washington Advises Indicate That Mexican Controversy Is Brought to End

Mexico City — (AP) — Advice from Washington indicating that actual agreement had been reached here on the long standing Mexican religious controversy and that communications asking papal sanction to the agreement had been forwarded to Rome, created a sensation today.

No official announcement was forthcoming but there was reason to believe that yesterday's meeting of President Emilio Portes Gil and Roman Catholic prelates merely climaxed long months of prior negotiations, in which the basis for settlement had been reached.

In well informed quarters here it was said this basis was mutual consent for a broad interpretation of the country's religious laws, stringent enforcement of which in 1928 to the episcopate's order withdrawing priests from the churches. Such, it was pointed out, would involve concessions by both the Mexican government and the church, without either giving in unconditionally.

The same well informed source said the Vatican probably would act quickly and satisfactorily on the terms of the agreement. It was pointed out as extremely unlikely his holiness would delay or permanently pigeon hole the matter, as it was understood happened on two previous occasions when negotiations looking to settlement came to a head.

The public manner in which the present negotiations have been conducted and the very definite affront undue postponement might offer to the Mexican government was mentioned as reasons for this belief.

Regarding as even more significant than a formal statement was the remark of Monsignor Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, archbishop of Michoacan, to news photographers when he emerged from his conference with the president yesterday.

He told them: "Do not photograph my heart for then you would have a statement which for the time being I cannot divulge." The remark was uttered apparently with the deepest sincerity and seemed to represent the most profound feeling on the part of the prelate.

FRENCH FLIERS OFF ON ATLANTIC HOP

preservers. Lott ordered a good sized rubber boat discarded because of the added weight.

One half of the propeller was broken when the Green Flash nosed over, the left wing strut was broken and the landing gear smashed.

Taney said the right wheel fell off beneath them and the ship twisted to the right at that moment and centered into a nose-over.

The rear part of the fuselage near the tail assemblage was badly dented and the left wing torn. The cowling over the motor also was badly dented.

FEARED EXPLOSION

Gasoline leaked from the tank and spread about the ground and the throng about the plane was pushed back for fear some one might toss a lighted cigarette or match on the sand and ignite the fuel.

The coast guard amphibian piloted by Lieut. L. M. Malka which accompanied the Yellow Bird at the start returned above the beach 4 minutes later.

The coast guardsman in charge of a portable short wave receiving set here said that Malka had reported the Yellow Bird at 100 miles out, was 2,000 feet up and going strong.

The French fliers had mapped two alternate courses to Paris, the choice depending upon weather conditions.

They planned to touch the tip of Cape Sable and then fly to the "corner" a junction of lanes about 1,000 miles east southeast of Old Orchard.

Here the Frenchmen's two routes diverged, one going northeast to latitude 47 longitude 29, thence east to St. Nazaire and to Paris; the other east southeast to the Island of Fayal, Azores, east to the northern coast of Portugal and thence northeast to Paris.

DIFFERENCE IN MILEAGE

By the northern route the fliers would fly approximately 3,700 miles; by the southern about 4,800 miles.

The yellow bird as its name would imply, is painted a bright yellow. A narrow band of the French tricolors runs diagonally across the underside of each wing and across the mid-section of the fuselage on both sides.

The birdlike emblem of the Cigogne escadrille, of which Lefevre was a member during the World War, also appears on either side of the fuselage.

The only designation is "Bernard 191" on the rudder and those are so small as to be practically indistinguishable when the ship is in the air.

NEW LONDON GIRL IS FLAG CONTEST OFFICER

(Washington Bureau of Post-Crescent)

Washington—Jean Margaret Desel of New London, one of Wisconsin's regional winners of the United States Flag association's contest, was elected secretary of the central division of the contest.

The 36 boys and 36 girls who won the regional contests are in Washington this week taking part in various ceremonies and seeing the national capital. Richard M. Fellows of Algoma is the other Wisconsin winner.

The finals will be held Friday evening on the main entrance to the capitol, when the four boys and four girls whose answers to 75 questions about the flag and whose essays on the flag are judged best will recite their essays. The two boys and two girls who give the best rendition of their essays will be sent on a trip around the world.

SECURE NEW QUARTERS FOR MARION POSTOFFICE

(Washington Bureau of Post-Crescent)

Washington—The postoffice at Marion, Waupaca-co, Wis., will move into new quarters at the northwest corner of Waupaca and Garfield-sts. on July 1.

The postoffice department has accepted the proposal of the First National bank to lease new quarters for a term of five years from July 1, or date the quarters are ready and occupied.

The lease includes equipment, heat, light, water, safe, power for electric fans, and parcel post and postal savings furniture when necessary.

tion was offered by Representative Tilden of Connecticut, the Republican leader, who in making said: "The vote will bring out and out conclusion as to whether the plan shall go in or stay out. I believe it is surest and quickest way of getting farm relief enactment."

BADGERS ARE SPLIT

Washington—The Wisconsin delegation split almost in half on the export debenture plea of farm relief. Five voting for it, four voting against it, one being paired for it, and one being absent.

Representatives John V. Nelson of Madison, Martin Hull of Black River Falls, Edward E. Brown of Waupaca, Florian Lampert of Oshkosh, voted for the debenture. Representative Henry Allen Cooper of Racine, Charles A. Kading of Watertown, John Schafer and William H. Stafford of Milwaukee voted against the debenture, and Representative James A. Frear of Hudson, absent in New York, paired in favor of it. Representative Hubert H. Peary of Washburn was absent and not paired, not having been present this session.

French Fliers Met Rough Road Before Hopoff Today

New York — (AP) — The trans-Atlantic flight begun today from Old Orchard, Me., by Assolant, Lefevre and Lotti is by way of being an attempt to show the folks at home that when they start out to do something they mean to finish it.

The three young Frenchmen, or rather Assolant and Lefevre, for Lotti did not appear in the picture until later, first broached the project of an ocean flight last year. Because of their youth and the fact that they were serving their country's colors at the time the aviators were hailed with great acclaim by the French and much was made of their projected flight.

They took off from LeBourget on Sept. 4 and then for the first time the identity of the mystery member of the trio was made public. Lotti, it developed, was backing the flight financially but had kept in the background lest his father, a wealthy hotel man, should prevent his participating in it as passenger.

Instead of continuing across the ocean the plane landed in Morocco without gas. A leaking valve was blamed for the failure of the flight by the aviators but there was much popular criticism and the earlier enthusiasm of the people waned rapidly.

Assolant and Lefevre were ordered back to duty in the army, from which they had been given leave for the flight, and the venture seemed to have been definitely ended.

But Assolant, Lefevre and Lotti had not given up and the two soldier fliers soon resigned from the army and when French government support was withdrawn from Atlantic flights from that country the idea was concerned with bringing their plane to this country and flying back.

They arrived here in April and their Bernard monoplane was assembled at Roosevelt field, from which they intended to take off. Spring rains, however, delayed their departure and they finally decided that Old Orchard beach offered better facilities than the muddy runway at the Long Island field. They flew to Old Orchard on May 23.

and London has given the opportunity for a break with the past and for a new and more hopeful beginning."

MAY DISCUSS PACT

Washington — (AP) — The Kellogg treaty for the renunciation of war may be the basis for discussion on Anglo-American relations between President Hoover and British Minister MacDonald if the latter makes his contemplated trip to the United States.

Well informed diplomatic circles today pointed out that the theory of the pact was applied by American Ambassador Gibson during the recent naval discussion before the preparatory disarmament commission at Geneva. They remarked that while the pact would not come into full force until Japan ratifies it, England has fully accepted it. Further, it was pointed out, the British delegate at the disarmament meeting immediately accepted the theory of the application of the pact after Mr. Gibson had made his speech expressing the American viewpoint.

These same circles said that while Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald would desire to discuss the more vital problems between the United States and Great Britain, the general question of Anglo-American relations would be the one to which they would devote the most attention. An approach to discussions of this general nature could be most logically made, they said, with the anti-war treaty as a basis.

COOKING SCHOOL FREE OF CHARGE

Three-day Demonstration Will Open Next Tuesday at Elk Club

The browbeaten wife who has been hearing about mother's pies and pancakes until she fails to see the humor in the mother-in-law comic strips, has things coming her way at last. If she's interested in making an attempt to put "mother's cooking" in the shade, she'll have a chance to learn how, free of charge, next week when the annual cooking school sponsored by the Post-Crescent opens. The school will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, at the Elk club, and will be absolutely without charge.

It will be conducted by Mrs. Margaret E. Brown of the Corn Products Refining company, at the same person who conducted the school last year. Mrs. Brown will cover every phase of cookery, and will give lectures on proper diet, food combinations, and menu planning. The quickest and best methods of making cakes, pies, salad dressings, salads and deep fat frying will be discussed and illustrated. A different lesson will be given each day, and all recipes used during the lectures will be given free.

CLOSE BOYS' LOBBY AT Y. M. C. A. NEXT WEEK

The boys' department lobby of the Y. M. C. A. will be closed mornings next week, according to C. C. Bailey, boys' work secretary, who will carry on the summer membership campaign next week. The lobby will be open for activities at 1:30 in the afternoon and will be kept open until 9 o'clock in the evening.

Watch the Signs

When you are motor-ing through the country, you pay careful attention to the signs along the road. To overlook one may cause you to go miles out of your way.

Signs are just as important in other matters! Take buying food for an example: The many regular customers who trade at Scheil's are a sign that this is a satisfying and economical place to buy foods. You'll truly appreciate the worth of this sign when you have traded at this store for a period of time. You'll like Scheil's Service.

NO IMMEDIATE AID IS EXPECTED FROM FARM LEGISLATION

Several Months Will Be Required to Get Board in Working Order

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
New York—Progress toward passage of the farm relief measure has brought no smile or rejoicing from the majority of the wheat growing communities, according to reports received from a wide territory today. The farmers point out that the measure sets up a board to promote orderly marketing of farm products and investigate trends of production and consumption as a basis for production guidance. It will take months to get the machinery of such a board and get it into operation.

In the meantime, there is a huge surplus of wheat in storage. The estimate of the winter crop just issued is 527,148,000 bushels. This compares with the 1928 crop of 579,000,000 bushels. The spring wheat crop with favorable weather also is likely to be extremely large.

Canada has a large amount to market and cuts in freight rates have been made there to enable the Canadian growers to market their product advantageously. The dominion can go further in that direction than the United States, since it operates the main wheat carrying railroads.

CORN BELT PESSIMISTIC

Agriculture will be hurt more than it is helped by the relief legislation, according to the corn belt farm dailies, in a review of the situation. This authority points out that the measure has helped to create an impression that farming is a hopeless business and that farm land is an investment to avoid just when the idea that farms at present price might prove a good buy was gaining a foothold. This analysis declares that those who are conducting their farms as any good business is conducted—keeping books, studying costs and adjusting operations to changing conditions—are winning. It adduces as proof the increase shown in the average management return from Iowa farms, as shown by a compilation made by Iowa State college, and shows the variation between good and bad management by the high farm with a management return of $6,000 and the low farm with a loss of $4,000.

Farm authorities point out that the legislation will not reduce the indebtedness of any individual farmer, reduce his interest costs or lower his taxes. The individual farmer will have to fail or succeed on his own policy as heretofore. C. E. Jacobson, chairman of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, asserts that the aims of legislation to bring about farm relief in wheat sections will be unavailing. He agrees with a recent statement of President E. E. Loomis of the Lehigh Valley railroad and a director of the Great Northern that the solution lies in offering wheat for export to Europeans on wheat grades like those of Canada.

American wheat is offered to Europe in more than 100 grades which are so confusing and so technical that the highly trained experts of the state and federal governments find it difficult to agree on classifications. These technicalities are so confusing that European purchasers will not take the time to study the situation. They prefer to buy on the more simple grading classifications, the milling quality, color and appearance of the wheat, being the three things in which they are interested. "The United States is attempting to force Europe to buy a commodity they want in a package that is extremely distasteful to them," Mr. Jacobson said. "When Mr. Hoover was secretary of commerce he stressed the need of standardization in lumber grading, envelopes and other goods. He had no connection with agricultural departments, however, and where simplification of envelopes and lumber reduced the number of grades, simplified selling and helped to develop foreign markets, our wheat trade has been hampered."

"A proper system of wheat grading would do more to restore prosperity to the American wheat producer than all the legislation that congress could pass in half a dozen sessions."

The relief legislation will do nothing to obviate the menace of Canadian wheat. New Canadian land is being broken and planted to wheat. There were 5,420 new land entries in the Peace river district in the year ended March 31. This district is larger than the state of Missouri and last year produced over 8,000,000 bushels of wheat.

COUNTY FARM AGENT TELLS HOW TO FIGHT CABBAGE MAGGOTS

An effective treatment for control of the cabbage maggot which is damaging crops in Outagamie co., consists of one ounce of corrosive sublimate to seven or eight gallons of water according to Gus Sell, county agent. This solution is stronger and more effective than the treatment suggested by state department of agriculture in which 19 gallons of water is used to one ounce of corrosive sublimate. Mr. Sell said. The solution should be mixed and stored in glass or wood containers. Galvanized iron, tin or other metal containers cause harmful chemical changes.

PACIFIC GAS COMPANY CAN'T BOOST RATES

San Francisco—The state railway commission has ordered the Pacific Gas and Electric company, the largest utility company, in northern California, to continue to serve consumers at present rates when natural gas is brought in to the San Francisco bay district from the central part of the state. Gas lines, being constructed at a cost of several millions of dollars, will soon be completed and the company asked permission to institute a higher schedule in view of the increased value of a mixture of natural and artificial gas which consumers will receive. The commission indicated it would approve the plan of mixing gases, but that until certain rates cases it is now hearing are completed the present schedule will have to remain in force. It is estimated that increased heat units in the mixture will be equivalent to about 12 per cent reduction in consumer rates as long as the present rate schedule is maintained.

ing that European purchasers will not take the time to study the situation. They prefer to buy on the more simple grading classifications, the milling quality, color and appearance of the wheat, being the three things in which they are interested. SUGGESTS SPRAY FOR FRUIT TREES

Treatment Is Necessary to Control Pests, County Agent Says

Outagamie co. farmers are advised by Gus Sell, county agricultural agent, to take steps to spray every bearing and non-bearing fruit tree in their orchards for control of apple scab, cherry leaf spot or shot hole, brown rot, codling moth, curculio and cankerworm.

Mr. Sell suggests a spray recommended by C. L. Kuehner, a fruit specialist with the horticultural department of the state university. This spray consists of one gallon of liquid lime sulphur, one to one and a half pounds of arsenate of lead in 40 gallons of water. Add nicotine sulphate or Derrisol if plant lice are numerous. Use at the rate of one half pint to 50 gallons of spray mixture.

This spray should be applied 10 days after the calyx spray application if rainy weather prevails within the first 10 days after the calyx spray.

Mr. Kuehner, in his letter to Mr. Sell, points out that farmers may consider themselves fortunate that fruits escaped serious injury during the past month. The cool and cloudy weather during the blooming period will result in a lighter fruit crop than had been first anticipated but it is an advantage to apples.

Cherry crops are doomed unless the shot hole pest is controlled, Mr. Kuehner says.

Acid Dyspepsia, Sour Belchings

Millions With These Stomach Disorders Daily Use Tons of Soda in Vain Effort at Relief.

Acid Dyspepsia, whose symptoms are loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, acid or foetid belchings, and often a sense of weight or fullness in the stomach, especially after a meal, cannot be overcome by use of soda or other makeshift remedies.

Since Dyspepsia is due to, or associated with, excessive acidity of the stomach, a lack of tone in the digestive organs, gastric inflammation, or fermentation of undigested foods, a true corrective is needed for any permanent relief.

That's why, in such cases, both physicians and chemists recommend Zinsep Compound over ordinary digestive aids whose effects are merely temporary. Combining as it does all the elements of an Antacid, Gas Eliminant, Stomachic, Carminative, Gastric Sedative and gentle Laxative, Zinsep Compound is a perfect corrective providing a complete treatment of some real lasting benefit.

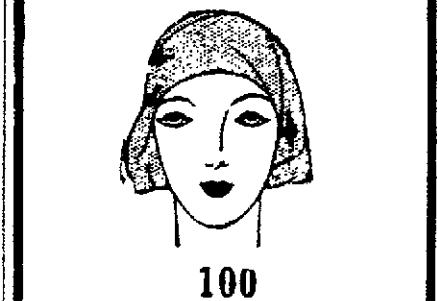

Zinsep compound must help you, or your druggist will cheerfully refund your money.

SENATE DESERVES REBUKE

President Hoover is talking turkey to the senate on the question of farm relief. It is time somebody talked turkey to that body. For three years now it has obstructed all attempts at farm relief by encumbering such legislation with fantastic schemes which no president having regard for his intelligence and his high responsibilities could accept. By voting to non-concur in the conference report of the house and senate representatives which had eliminated the export debenture from the farm bill, the senate is again trying to force a politically-conceived idea upon the president. It knew when it did this it would invite the criticism of Mr. Hoover, who has all along made it clear he would not approve an export debenture.

Little wonder that the senate's action draws the ire and fire of the president. The only effect of its course can be, as the president points out, to delay agricultural relief. It in fact gravely jeopardizes the enactment of any legislation. In answer to Senator Borah Mr. Hoover shows that the platform of the Republican party in no sense commits the administration to the debenture. His rebuke of the senate is so complete that we quote this important excerpt:

In rejecting the report of the senate and house conferees, which report was agreed to by members of both parties, the senate has in effect rejected a bill which provides for the creation of the most important agency ever set up in the government to assist an industry—the proposed federal farm board, endowed with extraordinary authority to reorganize the marketing system in the interest of the farmer; to stabilize his industry; and to carry out these arrangements in conjunction with farm cooperatives, with a capital of 500 million dollars as an earnest of the seriousness of the work.

It is a proposal for steady upbuilding of agriculture upon firm foundations of equality with other industry and would remove the agricultural problem from politics and place it in the realm of business.

The conferees' bill carried out the plan advanced in the campaign in every particular. Every other plan of agricultural relief was rejected in that campaign and this plan was one of the most important issues in the principal agricultural states and was given as a mandate by an impressive majority in these states. Subsidies were condemned in the course of the campaign and the so-called debenture plan—that is, the giving of subsidies on exports—was not raised by either party nor by its proponents.

No serious attempt has been made to meet the many practical objections to this proposal. It was not accepted by the house of representatives and has been overwhelming in its condemnation by the press and is opposed by many leading farm organizations. For no matter what the theory of the export subsidy may be, in the practical world we live in it will not bring equality, but will bring further disparity to agriculture. It will bring immediate profits to some speculators and disaster to the farmer.

I earnestly hope that the congress will reject the conferees' report and allow us to enter upon the building up of a sound agricultural system rather than to longer deprive the farmer of the relief which he sorely needs.

The president's statement illustrates the difference between competency and statesmanship in the White house and incompetency and politics in the senate. The president will, of course, stand his ground and if there is no farm legislation the responsibility will rest upon the senate.

WOMEN IN POLITICS

It seems but a year or two since there was general excitement because a woman had broken into congress. Now there are eight there, and nobody pays much attention to them. But the men had better take notice. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congresswoman from Illinois, predicts that in 25 years women will have half the membership in congress. They may control that body, she thinks.

Big gains have been made by women in England, too, in this last parliamentary election, and there are prophecies of ultimate control there. It seems mathematically possible because women are a big majority in England.

Practically, political domination by women will hardly become possible in either country. Women have other duties that will always keep most of them out of active politics for a considerable part of their lives, while men can play the game more continuously. But women have shown already that they have a gift for politics and a passion for public service. Public careers appeal to an ever-growing number. And old-fashioned prejudice against them is rapidly melting away.

VACATIONS FOR WORKERS

Yearly vacations among office and store workers have come to be a matter of course. It is the same in professional life. Manual workers have been ignored. But the situation is changing. The General Electric company, which employs 75,000 workers, has decided to give annual vacations to them, with pay, just as it does to the office forces. This is the most notable step of the kind yet taken anywhere.

The privilege does not apply universally without distinction. An employee must have worked for the company three years before he is eligible for a paid vacation. Then he gets one week. After 10 years' service, he gets two weeks. This restriction is insisted on to encourage steadiness among employees. It speaks well for the labor personnel of the General Electric that three-fourths of its workers are eligible for vacations, and will get them, this year.

Many employers, directors and stockholders will grumble at such liberality. They need not. Justice alone might grant it to manual workers as well as others in the organization. Intelligent self-interest might grant it just as readily, after an open-minded consideration of all the factors involved.

Experience seems to have shown that regular paid vacations for employees usually benefit the employers themselves indirectly.

PROTECTION AT SEA

A complete report of the conclusions of the international sea-safety conference which has lately held its sessions in London is not yet available to the public. It is known, however, that the new code worked out there will make safety at sea more nearly certain than it has yet been. Much was learned from the Vestris disaster which is embodied in the new proposals.

The conference recognized the fact that under the best possible conditions transfer from a disabled ship to lifeboats is difficult and dangerous and that drifting about in lifeboats until rescued has many perils. Therefore the delegates sought means of making every ship a lifeboat—that is, able to keep afloat after collision, ice ramming or engine failure until aid can arrive.

There must still be the regular lifeboats, in good condition and properly outfitted for emergency use. There must also be equipment for prompt communication, wireless for ships of 1,600 tons or more, direction-finding equipment for passenger ships of 5,000 tons, signalling lamps for all ships of 150 tons, more efficient fog signals for all vessels, including those in tow or anchored in a fairway.

Another step is necessary to make such requirements effective. Adequate inspection in ports in all countries is necessary to insure that all safety measures are carried out in full. Otherwise they may be evaded by careless or indifferent owners.

A SKYSCRAPER'S AGE

Things grow old quickly in this modern world.

In Chicago, a matter of 35 years ago, was built the world's first skyscraper—the Tacoma Building, 14 stories tall, erected on a new principle which made a steel framework carry all the weight.

For years it was a marvel. Architects studied it, and the lessons it taught led to the construction of the towering buildings that mark every American city.

But now it is being torn down—after a scant 35 years of life. It is out of date—too small, too cramped. In its place will rise a building three times as high.

Steel rails on a north and south railway track last longer than those laid east and west. The friction is undisturbed in the former case; the latter is resisted.

The Bodleian Library at Oxford, England, is the oldest public library in Europe. It was founded in 1444 by Humphrey, Duke of Gloucester.

The term "cowboys" was first used during the American Revolution. It was applied to a band of Tories who stole cattle from both sides.

The International Motor Boat Races will be held in Venice, Italy, this year during September 2-15.

Supplying London with gas calls for more than 6,400 tons of means and the carbonizing of 4,097,600 tons of coal each year.

Venus is nearly twice as far from the sun as Mercury and is almost exactly the same size as the earth.

There are more than 2,100 officers and men employed in London's Fire Brigade.

The upkeep of London's schools last year cost $65,685,330.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—The golden west's first urgent call for talent some months ago resulted in a flurry of press agent stories that "Broadway is moving to Hollywood."

Upon the migration of actors, directors and script and song constructors from Times Square to the California studios was hung the generality. So, by a familiar token, it might be said that "Broadway has gone Hollywood." Not that New York's far famed pleasure park had lifted its face of ferris wheels, roller-coasters, sideshow freaks and hot-dog stands. The carnival landscape still is the same.

It is merely that a considerable number of actors have found warm weather employment along the wind-swept boardwalk, their cultured voices extolling time attractions in accents belie the title of "broadway."

SHAKESPEAREAN SPIELERS

Passing the incubator-baby display, for instance, one recognizes George Bleasdale, perched on a ticket-box, to announce from Broadway, where he was sexton and stage manager in "The Miracle" of Morris Gest.

"See the incubator babies," calls George as he tears off a ticket, which is handed in turn to an 81-year-old doorman who used to be with Robert Montell.

The doorman is no less dignified than the guide inside, declaiming about a half-dozen infants who sleep in glass and white-chamber cabinets. For the guide, too, is an old Shakespearean actor, Dan Mullins.

There is none of the usual speller in Mullins as he reveals a few facts of life to a group made up mostly of girls who appear to be 19 or 20 years old. It is evident the stage gave him the manner and diction in which he says:

"This little girl is a six-months baby, born just a week ago. She weighs two and one-half pounds. After several weeks in the incubator, she will be transferred to the nursery where she will be kept until she is three months old."

"Here is the nursery," and Dan Mullins continues his talk on the care and feeding of the six little forms, like waxen dolls that entered this world too soon and must pass the first weeks in a cell of oxygen and artificial heat. It's not very dramatic, but the actor does his best.

Dr. Martin A. Conney, who brought his incubators from Germany in 1893 and has shown them at Coney for 27 years and at Atlantic City for 25, explains that all his guides and ticket-sellers are character actors. Other Thespians, he says, are employed elsewhere in the big amusement park.

During the winter, they earn, when they can find a part, $150 a week. During the summer they get a third as much. But the Coney Island job is sure to last three months, which is longer than a lot of plays endure the hardships of Broadway.

SELF-PICTURES

Incidentally, the automatic cameras seem to be the most ill-used attraction at Coney Island this year. It may not be a commentary on human vanity, but the most crowded booths are those in which one snaps himself by dropping a quarter in a slot.

Today's Anniversary

THE WAR DEPARTMENT

On this day in 1776 Congress created the first United States Department of War. It differed considerably from the present-day department, but it was the forerunner.

It was not until 1789 that Congress provided for the Department of War as it is constituted today. In 1776 this branch of the federal government was little more than a Congressional committee. Now the secretary of war is a member of the cabinet, ranking third in the line of succession to the presidency.

He has charge of all military affairs, subject to the direction of the president, the distribution of stores, the signal service, the survey and improvement of harbors and the administration of insular possessions. He is required to make an annual report to the president, showing the number and distribution of our military forces, and a report of departmental expenditures.

The original war committee chosen 150 years ago today took up as its first business an investigation into the amount of military stores in the hands of the colonists.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thursday, June 16, 1904
Camping and living in the field in regular army style by members of Company G was to be the feature of the Fourth of July celebration here. These also were to be drills, guard mount and sham battles.

THE SAFE WAY TO CURE VARI- COSE VEINS

A survey of 4,667 cases of surgical ligation or removal of varicose veins in 34 hospitals, in various parts of the country showed that the treatment has a mortality of one in each 250 cases. That is to say, fatal complications have ensued in one of each 250 cases so treated.

A study of nearly 50,000 cases of obliteration of varicose veins by injection, a method that has only recently come into very wide use, shows that this treatment has a mortality of one in 1,000 cases.

The question of recurrence of trouble after treatment gives an answer, even more favorable to the injection treatment. Recurrence is a high as 30 per cent in surgically treated cases; it is only 6 per cent in injected cases.

Our profession is noted for conservatism, not to characterize it by a less dignified term. Sometimes this ultra-conservatism makes us rather foolish, but on the whole, it is a good or proud of it and would not change it for anything. This is a pretty, tricky old world, and if the regular or "ordinary" doctors ran after every new cure or accepted every new discovery without suspicion or investigation, our patients would not fare as well as they do.

The profession at large is still holding out against the novel injection method of treating varicose veins. I know, for I get funny rejoinders every day—readers have read something about the method here; they ask their physicians about it; perhaps the doctors, in many cases, don't know a thing about it, but it wouldn't do to say so; the doctors dismiss the matter with a vague hint that injections are dangerous, likely to produce embolism, or something like that. Still, the method seems to be making progress. A year ago I knew of only three or four doctors who were using it in their practice; now I know of a score or more who are finding it very satisfactory. Some of these at first scoffed at the idea, too.

Theoretically the injection treatment would impress almost any good doctor that way. In practice it does not seem to produce the imagined embolism.

The injection treatment does not confine the patient to bed. It is readily carried out in the doctor's office without more than a short rest there for the patient. This is a tremendous factor in its favor, for the greatest sufferers from varicose veins are people who cannot afford to lie in bed for weeks even if the surgical treatment promises relief.

Some physicians find that varicose ulcers do not bar the victim from the benefit of the injection treatment, and indeed, obliteration of the vein supplying the ulcerated area greatly aids the healing of the ulcer.

Physicians don't much of this obliteration work use a simple test to determine the patency or capacity of the deeper veins to carry the circulation. They bandage the leg firmly from toe to knee, then send the patient out to walk 10 blocks; if he complains of violent pain after walking a short distance, the deep veins are probably not capable of carrying the circulation, and the patient that is denied treatment. If he returns smiling and comfortable and with the bandage intact, then he is entitled to have the varicose veins obliterated.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Chafing
Can you suggest something for the relief of chafing of the skin, from which I suffer a great deal in the warm weather. (A. N. R.)

Answer—Wash chafed surfaces with soap and water lukewarm. Rinse repeatedly with warm water. Dry well and apply a coat of castor oil (the sure) the castor oil is not rancid after a sprinkling of plain talcum or zinc stearate powder. In some cases a more satisfactory treat-

WELL DIVORCED
St. Louis—Marriage never did take with William H. Bice. He was divorced three times before he married his last wife, Dorothy Bice last November. Then Mrs. Bice decided that William was too old for her, told him so and smokes cigarettes in front of him. "This is the end," William thought, so he went and got another divorce. His wife did not consent.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—Broadway has sent its actors, playwrights, song pluggers, stage directors, yea even its derbies, swarming to Hollywood, but Broadway can keep its stage-door johnnies. The film city has plenty of its own, although Hollywood's, of course, haunt sound stage doors.

And should this movie colony's devoted swains decide to organize a club among themselves, doubtless John Gilbert would be elected Chief High Johnny, for since his unexpected marriage to Ina Claire he has qualified nobly for the honor by escorting his bride daily to her studio, calling for her in the afternoons, and sometimes even coming over to lunch with her from his own studio.

Members, of course, would not be lacking, for among prospective bridegrooms alone there is much material. Ralph Blum, local attorney, would earn his button for the sake of Carmel Myers; Maurice Cleary, also of the law, for May McAvoy, and Doug Fairbanks, Jr., for Joan Crawford; Duke Worne, independent producer, would qualify through Virginia Brown Faire, and Harry Kien-er, local business man, because of Joan Meredith, Patsy Ruth Miller's engagement to Tay Garnett, director, would admit him to the circle.

THEY WHO WAIT WITHOUT THEM. Of Hollywood's sweethearts and betrothed, actual or rumored, are more bona fide "club" prospects. Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels, Gary Cooper and Lupe Velez, Rex Lease and Viola Dana, Paul Kohner and Mary Philbin, William Hawks and Sally Eilers, Charlie Farrell and Virginia Valli, are among the principals in such romances, qualifying the men at once—literally or figuratively.

Unfortunately, however, are the johnnies who dance attendance on movie sweethearts who work within Fox's Movietone City, most inaccessible of places. Even Lily Damita's "boy friend," the German prince, could not enter.

But fortunate in this respect is Nick Stuart, who acts within these same walls with Sue Carol—there's no waiting outside for Nick.

One legitimate stage-johnny is there now—Robert Armstrong, of the films, who waits outside the Hollywood Playhouse where Jeanne Kent, Mrs. Armstrong, plays in "This Thing Called Love."

NEW CLUB

Speaking of clubs, a new one is the "Alibi club," its membership including Roland West, Chester Morris and Pat O'Malley, all connected with the talkie "Alibi," besides Rod La. Roque, Ben Lyon, Gary Cooper, George Bancroft, Gilbert Roland and others.

Its alleged purpose is to gather or create "convincing alibis" for members' use with wives or sweethearts.

FRISCO CHINATOWN STILL FAITHFUL TO SUN YAT TEACHINGS

No Great Dissension Uncovered Despite Nationalist Criticisms

BY BEN G. KLINE
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
San Francisco—Though the efforts of the Nationalist government to curb criticism of its actions in the Chinese language press of San Francisco might lead one to believe otherwise, this city's famed Chinatown is still loyal to the revolution of 1911 the principles of Dr. Sun Yat Sen and to the Kuomintang administration at Nanking. Ng Hing Jo, scholar, former diplomat and aged contributor to publications on Chinese affairs, is one who has aroused the ire of the Kuomintang leaders in his homeland by criticisms of their actions. Lum Pak-sun, editor of the Nationalist daily news, Chinese language daily here is another. According to reports believed along Grant avenue the Chinese government would like to have the American government deport Ng for monarchical propaganda directed against the Nanking regime and would have the daily news suppressed because of alleged radical, or communistic, attacks upon the government of China. Ng Hing-do's articles which were deemed particularly objectionable were published in the Chinese world. This brings two of Chinatown's five language papers into nationalist disfavor and might indicate that the Chinese community here, which gave Sun Yat-sen his start and which has been of great moral and financial help to the Chinese people's party, is turning against it. NO GREAT DISSENSION Inquiry in Chinatown, however, fails to disclose any great dissension, rather the trouble is that the Nanking regime, faced by difficulties at home in the way of Communist uprisings and militarist opposition, has become more than usually sensitive to criticism. The reason it is so sensitive to what is published in the Chinese press here is that San Francisco Chinese language papers circulate in all parts of the United States, Canada and South America. This is headquarters for the Kuomintang of America and the fountain head of Nationalist thought in the western hemisphere. What the Nationalist government fails to realize, however, is that as Chinese youths in America become sheikhs and the girl flappers, the older people absorb some of the American ideas of free speech and political liberalism. The last meeting of Chinese students on the coast was strong for nationalism. The recent rites in commemoration of Sun Yat-sen drew most of Chinatown. But still if any Chinese has any constructive criticism of nationalist acts in the home country he is not suppressed as he is in China. Along Grant Avenue the nationalist government's attempt to silence its journalistic critics seems to be considered a sort of "Nanking gesture," which won't cause any long warfare or endanger relations between the United States and her sister republic.

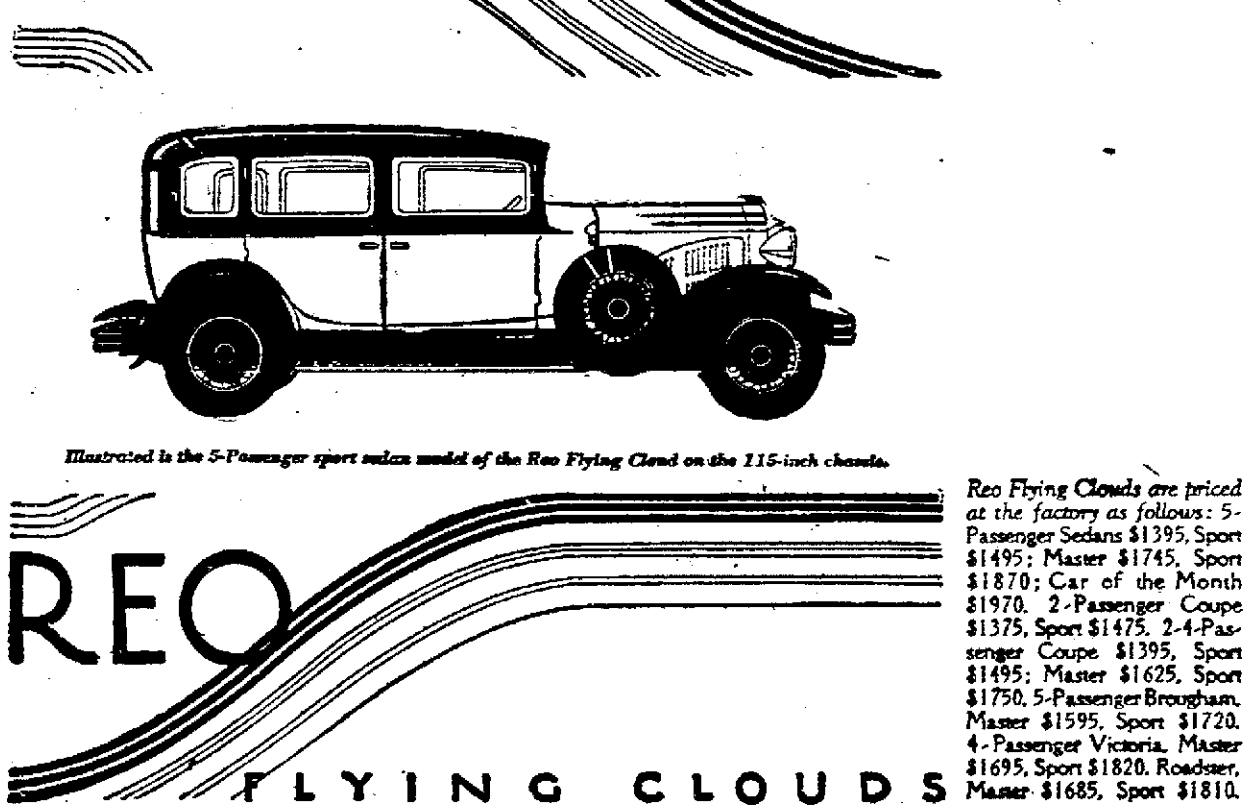

A REO WILL ACTUALLY COST YOU NO MORE THAN A GOOD $1,000 CAR

Add a hundred dollars, or so, on your down payment—stand ready to carry perhaps three additional payments—and you can have a Reo Flying Cloud. A car that will out-perform anything anywhere near its price class. And a car of superb mechanical dependability.... More than that; you know how much repairs will cost you on even a good $1,000 car. A Reo will not only take you way into the third year without serious repair bills so that your added investment becomes an actual saving, but it will give you outstanding service for four years, six years, and even longer.

Reo looks what it is.... a fine car built so painstakingly for performance and long life, that people who know motor cars insist that it should be compared only with cars listed in the highest price-fields. It's a smart looking car, it's a smart performing car, and it's a car that takes you once and for all out of the price-tag class.

Check up on a Reo before you decide on any car. Now you can have a Reo Flying Cloud at a lower price than ever before.

M'CONNELL IS TOO "MODERN" BAPTIST MINISTERS ALLEGE

Denver—(AP)—Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal church, Brooklyn, N. Y., chosen several weeks ago to be the key-note speaker at the annual meeting of the northern Baptist convention which opens here Friday, has been relieved of that honor as a result of protests filed by 19 ministers of that faith because of Bishop McConnell's "modernism."

TRADE SLOW UP IS SEEN BY BANKERS

loans which the regional reserve banks are trying to make them liquidate. This shopping for credit on the part of many banks especially in going outside their reserve bank districts and asking accommodation from banks from which they have never borrowed is creating its own embarrassment. To refuse accommodation carries its penalties. And yet the big city banks are being offered bank endorsements for work over all of Wisconsin's forest area.

PURPOSE DOUBTFUL One of the big bankers here when asked what he thought about Federal Reserve policy asked first for a definition of "policy." He insisted that when the Federal Reserve advisory council went to Washington it came back without a clear idea of the purposes of the Federal Reserve board and that it could hardly be expected that member banks would know any more.

Investment bankers have on their shelves millions of dollars of good bond issues which they dare not float in the high money market. Commercial bankers say that business men are finding no difficulty in borrowing money for commercial purposes though they are paying a minimum of five and three quarters per cent for it. They apparently do not object to paying that rate though they are accustomed to four and three quarters and even less but they are so glad to be accommodated in what they have been led to believe is a tight money market that they absorb the increased expense ungrudgingly.

One curious effect of the high money rates however is to make more difficult the business of those who have to sell to the farmer. The country banks are not carrying as much farm paper used in purchasing agricultural implements. They have had their funds employed directly or indirectly in the call money market. So one of the large implement firms is itself carrying larger volumes than ever before of farm paper but the resistance is interfering with sales.

Everybody seems agreed that the fluctuating call-money market has been an unsteady influence and one banker suggested that the cure would never be found for the present situation until the New York call money market was abolished altogether. He said that try as they would to reduce the bill rate, or regulate the rediscount rate the real basis of money in America today was the call money market.

Opinions differ as to the remedy

MAUTHE OUTLINES PLANS TO FURTHER STATE FORESTRY

Suggests That Government Take Over 2,000,000 Acres in Wisconsin

Milwaukee—(AP)—A series of proposals to alleviate the forestry situation in Wisconsin were made by William Mauthe, chairman of the state conservation commission, in an address to the Wisconsin State Bankers' association here Wednesday.

Mr. Mauthe proposed: That the federal government take over 2,000,000 acres of Wisconsin land, not suitable for profitable agriculture, on condition that it establish forests on these lands.

Legislation for forests on 7,000,000 acres of Wisconsin land fitted for timber.

Legislation to encourage counties to establish forests on delinquent lands.

That the forest crop tax law be broadened to encourage forest growth by individuals and enterprises everywhere.

Extension of forest fire prevention work over all of Wisconsin's forest area.

A state forestry fund through legislation of approximately $1,000,000 annually for reforestation and fire protection, with the fund being raised by a small tax levy not exceeding two-tenths of a mill.

Legislation to create a permanent forest research and fact-finding unit. Requirements be adopted to make for the high money rates. Some bankers still feel that sharp increase in the rediscount rate a few weeks ago would have brought the stock market to a sudden collapse and that the surgical operation would have been short, painful, but effective though most bankers are inclined to think that a rise in rediscount rate would hardly be of much value now.

They are therefore resigned to a 5 per cent rate though they think a continuance of unsettled conditions is bound in the end to hurt foreign as well as domestic business. Altogether, business seems to be standing up well in the second quarter though few business men will hazard a guess about what the third quarter will show. Lack of personal contact between Washington and the banking world is evident here as elsewhere. The bankers have serious problems which are worrying them constantly and they feel that the Federal Reserve authorities have been rather unsympathetic or at least have not striven sufficiently to understand the subject from anybody else's point of view. The Federal Reserve banks may be interesting channels of distribution for Federal Reserve board mechanism but any policies that require persuasion, it is suggested, will have to come from the board itself notwithstanding its disinclination to assume a central bank attitude in a supposedly decentralized system.

CHARGE MAN DROVE HIS CAR TOO FAST

James Wallace, route 7, Appleton, was arrested Wednesday evening on N. Badger-ave by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, on a charge of traveling 38 miles an hour. He is to appear in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Thursday afternoon to answer a charge of speeding. Edward Wolfgram, 319 N. Locust-st, was arrested Wednesday by Officer Arndt on a charge of operating a car without transferring the license and he also is to appear in court Thursday afternoon.

DENIES HE PARKED CAR WITHOUT LIGHTS

William Prosser, Menasha, pleaded not guilty in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg Wednesday afternoon of parking his car without a tail light and his trial was set for June 19. He furnished $25 bonds. Prosser was arrested on complaint of Dr. H. L. Playman, 217 N. Union-st.

scientific and selective timber cutting processes the practice.

Legislation be enacted to authorize adoption and enforcement of rules and regulations requiring slash removal following highway construction, public power, telephone, telegraph and railroad right-of-ways.

Efforts to be made to put into practical use a systematic soil survey in every forest growing county in the state.

The program he presented was prepared with advice and cooperation of C. L. Harrington, superintendent of forests of the commission; Dr. Raphael Zon, head of the Lake States Forestry Experiment station at St. Paul, Dean Harry Russell of the Wisconsin college of agriculture and several Wisconsin lumbermen, Mr. Mauthe explained.

The speaker traced the history of forestry in Wisconsin since 1855 and explained Wisconsin was the third state to do something toward solving the problem. In 1901, a state forestry department was formed and by 1915 preserves aggregating 99,000 acres, in Vilas, Oneida, Iron, Forest and Price counties had been created.

Talks To Parents

A LONELY YOUNGSTER By Alice Judson Peale

"We live in a big apartment house and my little boy has no one to play with. When I take him to the park he is so shy that he does not make friends. I think he would love to play with children but he doesn't know how."

"He spends most of his time out of doors standing with a wistful expression on his face, watching the other children laughing and calling each other as they race up and down the pavement on their kiddie cars and scooters. I feel so sorry for him. How can I help him?"

Perhaps your child is one of those lonely little youngsters who does not like to play with, and no way of making friends for himself. What can you do for him?

You can do a great deal. You can make contacts with the mothers of the likely looking children you see in the park. You might now and again plan special trips to such places as the zoo or the merry-go-round, and invite one or two of these children to come with you.

On rainy days call in some child who lives in your apartment building. His mother will be charmed to let him have a change of scene, and the children will have a good time if you give them a proper chance. Leave them alone together. See to it that they have the sort of play materials which suggest cooperative play—big floor blocks, trains, dolls and housekeeping toys.

When you have done what you can to provide your child with play-fellows, he ready still occasionally to step into the breach. Be a child yourself now and then. Play his games with him and follow his lead. Be his companion as well as his mother.

LOCAL BRIDES STILL PREFER SHOWER BOUQUET

B. P. W. Are Invited To Milwaukee

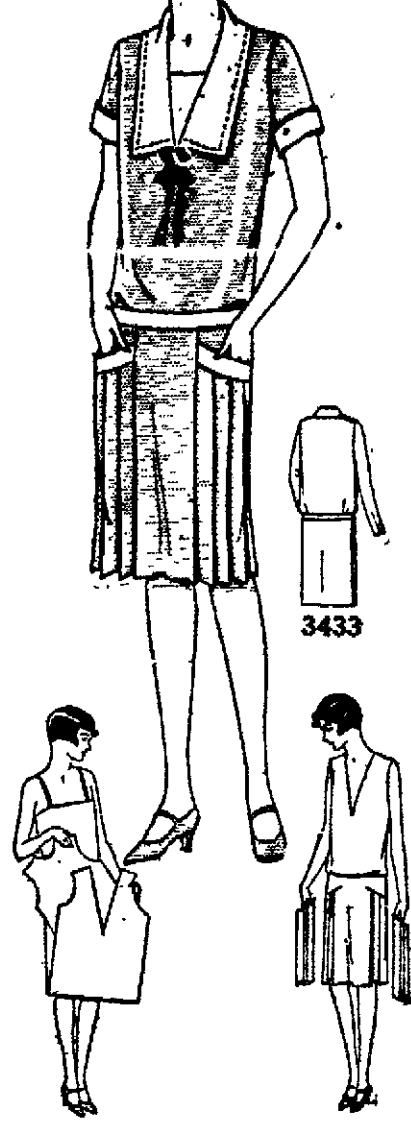

THE Appleton Business and Professional Women's club has received an invitation to attend an International Friendship dinner June 20 given by the Business and Professional Women's club of Milwaukee.

Dr. Maria Castellani of Rome, Italy, the speaker of the evening, will discuss World Peace and International Friendship. Dr. Castellani also will speak at the annual convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's club, Mackinac Island, Mich., in July.

This will not be Dr. Castellani's first visit to the United States. In 1924 she was an Italian fellow at Bryn Mawr and at that time spoke to women clubs and chambers of commerce in many cities. The speaker was one of the hostesses to the Good Will Tour of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs to Europe last summer and has been active in organizing a business and professional women's club in Rome and Italy.

By profession Dr. Castellani is an actuary and statistician. She holds a doctor's degree in mathematics and was educated not only at Italian Universities and Bryn Mawr but at Girton college, Cambridge, England where she had an international studentship. The first woman actuary in Italy, she was likewise the first woman to hold a doctor's degree in Italian states. She is the present editor in chief of L'Assicurazione Sociale, official organ of the Cassa Nazionale and is connected with many civic and professional organizations.

The Tynymites

By Hal Cochran

THE forest fire was drawing near, which filled the Tynymites with fear. They headed for the water, just as fast as they could go. As flames arose, 'twas bright as day. Then smoke began to roll their way. "My goodness," shouted Carpy, "everything seems all aglow."

Then Coppy shouted, "Hey! More speed. That is the one thing that we need. If we can reach the water, we all will be safe and sound. It isn't very far from here, I fear. Come on, let's keep our pep up. We must cover lots of ground."

And so they ran on, just like mad, and shortly they were very glad to spy the stream of water. "We have made it," Scouty cried. "This run has made my old head thump, but all we need to do is jump. It's certain that we can't get burned when we are once inside."

Then Coppy interferred, and said, "Aw getting wet I really dread. I think we're safe right on the shore. The flames won't come this far. But, if they do, I have no doubt that we can quickly splash them out. The best thing for us all is just to stay right where we are."

All of a sudden Clowny cried, "Where is the scarecrow?" Then he sighed, "we've left our good friend far behind. I'll have to rescue him. The rest of you can wait right here. Then you'll not have a thing to fear. I'm not afraid to try this task, cause I feel right in trim."

So, off he ran, and no one else blazed he found the scarecrow in a daze. Brave Clowny grabbed him by the arms and, with a merry shout, he pulled him to his shoulders quick and dragged him o'er the ground real slick. "Oh, thank you," cried the scarecrow. "You have saved my life, no doubt."

(The scarecrow gets a sudden ducking in the next story.)

he quietly, with eyes closed against the room which was too full of Sandy. Surely it could not be so very wrong to think of Sandy for a few minutes. In this new way. Her love was entitled to that luxury, for afterwards if she could manage it, it must be buried so deep that no one, least of all Sandy, could guess that it had ever been.

Sandy he called him up before the eyes of her heart and looked at him deliberately—the grown-up Sandy, today's Sandy, not the ten-year-old or the twelve-year-old or any of the other Sandys she had known so well.

"Why, you're a man grown, my darling," she marvelled. "You're nearly twenty-five years old, and I'm twenty-one. Let me look at you as if I'd never known all the other Sandys. How tall you are! Six feet one? You mustn't slouch, my Sandy. Straighten your shoulders, darling! That's the way! And don't grin like that! Ah, yes, do! Did you know I love your grin? And your funny, speckled eyes, all grey and green and brown. And your sand-colored hair, with the lock that's always in your eyes. It always was falling down and getting into your eyes, wasn't it Sandy? And I love your long, lean face all brown with flying in the face of the sun. Did you say, 'Yeah' Sandy? You always said 'Yeah' and grinned, Sandy. Oh, Sandy, why didn't I know? Why didn't you make me see you a grown-up, a man—not my lov-chum any more? Why didn't you Sandy? Was it because you didn't want me to love you? Did you want a Mary Burns, not me?"

NEXT: A prayer of despair.

NEW OFFICERS OF SOCIETIES ARE INSTALLED

Installation of officers of both the home and foreign missionary societies took place at the meeting of the Womens Home Missionary society of First Methodist church Tuesday afternoon. Home Mission Radiograms was the subject of the talk given by Mrs. A. E. Rector. A musical program consisting of vocal solos by Mrs. F. M. Sager, and piano selections by Mrs. E. B. Morse, was given. The committee was composed of Mrs. Rector, Mrs. R. Evans, Mrs. J. B. McLaren, Mrs. S. C. Hyde, Mrs. W. D. Schiafer, Mrs. A. C. Remley, and Mrs. J. A. Holmes. The next meeting will be a joint meeting of the two societies at the home of Miss Elizabeth Wilson, E. Franklin-st, the second Tuesday in July.

Moore's Varnishes

Good varnish protects wood-work against its two greatest enemies, wear and moisture. By sealing the pores of the wood, it prevents swelling, shrinking, warping or decay, protects against rough usage, and beautifies.

There's a Moore Varnish for every surface—floor varnishes, interior varnishes for doors, walls, wainscoting and furniture; waterproof varnishes for bathrooms and kitchens and exterior woodwork.

We carry and recommend Moore's Varnishes, because they represent honest value at reasonable price.

CLAIMS DAIRY FARMERS DON'T NEED RELIEF

Chicago Livestock Exchange Head Says Stock Men Have Fine Prospects

Chicago —(AP)— President E. C. Brown of the Chicago Livestock exchange, said today that livestock and dairy farmers are not interested in farm relief legislation. Prospects for this branch of agriculture were never better, he added.

"Livestock farmers are now in a position to help the grain farmer," President Brown said. "They can buy corn at 65 to 75 cents throughout the belt, convert it into beef and pork and on a short turnover can market the grain that goes into the animal, netting thereby 50 to 100 per cent profit. Reports of fabulous profits in Wall-st are in circulation but none of them actually exceed current livestock growing profits with every prospect of continuance for 90-days."

"Such discontent as hog growers have voiced has been due to price control by the country buying device, which is the only weak spot in the livestock production structure."

"Even hogs, handicapped by a price control system resulting from direct country buying, for which purpose that system was designed, are paying well for their board at present. Fat cattle at $13.50 to $15.25 per cwt.; hogs at $10.50 to $11.25 per cwt.; and lambs born only a few weeks back, at $16.00 to $18.50 per cwt., tell an eloquent story of the satisfactory condition of the livestock arm of agriculture, a condition strikingly in contrast with that of the one-crop or grain farmer in whose behalf the farm relief hullabaloo has been raised."

"A notable instance of the efficacy of livestock production in remedying grain or one-crop farming ills is to be seen in the Dakotas where lamb raising has gained such momentum in recent years. Application of the same diversification principle will be equally effective elsewhere."

"All the livestock industry asks is secure possession of its domestic market which is essential if the herd and flocks of this country are to be protected from foot and mouth disease. This can be accomplished only by rigid exclusion of meats from infected South American areas."

"Visualization of Chicago's daily livestock market quotations will furnish convincing and irrefutable evidence that the livestock farmer occupies a position as strong as that of the grain or any other one crop farmer is weak."

TAKE TESTIMONY IN 3 WORKMEN'S CASES

Testimony was taken Wednesday afternoon before L. M. Kittleson, industrial commissioner, in three cases arising under the Workmen's Compensation act. Mr. Kittleson opened a one-day hearing Wednesday morning at the courthouse.

Albert Hoppe, Kaukauna, asked compensation from the Flanagan Loughrin Pickle company for the loss of his left eye. He charges that while he was employed by the company, hooping barrels, a piece of steel struck him in the eye and caused the loss of that organ.

Compensation for an alleged permanent disability of his right foot, which resulted when it was crushed beneath a log which rolled from a wagon, was asked by Sam Dennes, Menasha, from the G. W. Jones Lumber company. He claims he was employed by the company when the accident occurred.

Anton Braun, Menasha, sought compensation for injuries alleged to have been received while he was employed by the John Strange Paper

RYAN, GRANDSON OF NOTED MILLIONAIRE, HELD FOR BAD CHECKS

Paris —(AP)— Thomas Ryan, identified by his attorney as the grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, New York millionaire, will be brought back to Paris today from Havre on a charge of cashing 65,000 francs (about $2,600) in bad checks.

Another 30,000 francs worth of paper he distributed while "seeing Paris by night" has accumulated in a local bank but Mrs. Ryan, whom he only recently married and who sailed for home yesterday on the lise de France, left money enough to care for them.

Ryan was arrested on the pier at Havre as he was about to board the liner to sail with his wife. He told officers he was the "son of a New York banker." Positive identification as Thomas Fortune Ryan's grandson was not made until today.

RETAINING WALL IS BUILT ON HIGHWAY 41

A crew of county highway workers have started building a retaining wall on Highway 41 on the hill just south of Little Chute. Spring rains and thaws have caused the ground to be carried down this hill until it was threatening to be carried on the highway. The wall is being built with concrete blocks which were torn from the old roadway when the road was relocated at this point. The work probably will be finished by the end of the week.

DON'T BE AFRAID WORK, EVANS TELLS NEENAH GRADUATES

President of Ripon College Is Principal Speaker at Commencement

Neenah — Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college, was the speaker Wednesday evening at the annual commencement exercises of Neenah high school, at Neenah, Wis. Dr. Evans discussed the importance of the school, claiming that school and education were not identified.

"One can be educated in church, at motion picture shows, at pool rooms, but this does not go to show that the person gets a schooling in these places," he said. "The home is the greatest institution in the world," as it is here the greatest possibilities to make one's life good or bad are found. One gets his start in the home and goes out to continue the teachings received there.

"There are three school words—Play, Work and Other Things. Vacation is play, a hesitation between work and other things are worked into one's life during his work. Take college. His study is to work and work hard to win and master those greatest problems put to him."

"He claimed that work is the greatest health cure there is and that no one ever died from overwork but from worry, lack of sleep and exercise. "The idlers are the chaff and rubbish of the world."

Eighty-one pupils received their diplomas.

The program opened with a march by the high school orchestra under the direction of Capt. H. C. Claus. The band marched to the stage while the band played. Invocation was given by the Rev. C. E. Fritz, pastor of St. Paul English Lutheran church, and the salutatory address was delivered by N. S. Kuettel, who reviewed the meaning of the class motto, "Unto Thine Ownself Be True," taken from Shakespeare's play Hamlet. Following the singing of two tenor numbers by George Nixon, with Miss Katherine Jones as accompanist, Dr. Evans spoke. This was followed by Miss Marie Fuechsel, valedictorian, who spoke on the constitution of the United States.

The graduates then marched to a place on the stage where J. Ballantine, principal distributed the diplomas.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE TO OPEN SCHEDULE FRIDAY

Neenah—The first games in the Young Men's softball league will be played Friday evening with six teams in play. The schedule, as arranged by Coach George Christoph has the Haase Cardinals and the Drahm Sports playing at Columbia diamond No. 1; Cellucotton versus Chieftain at Columbia diamond No. 2; the last event on the annual commencement week activities have been completed. It has been decided to include all Alumni members and members of last year's "N" club in the invitation list.

WEEKLY GAMES PLAYED BY SOFTBALL TEAMS

Neenah—National league softball teams occupied the diamond Wednesday evening with their weekly games. The best game of the evening was that by Wisconsin Michigan Power company and Bergstrom Paper company which resulted in a win for the Power company in 11 innings, 6 and 5. Wisconsin Telephone company defeated the Grocers, 12 and 8, and the Kimberly-Clark team defeated the Butchers, 15 and 12.

The next games will be the first of the series to be played by the Young Men's league teams Friday evening at Doty and Columbia parks.

PUSH CONSTRUCTION WORK ON NEW BRIDGE

Menasha—While the steel men employed on the new Tayvor bridge have been temporarily held up pending the return of bearings to manufacturers, other work on the new structure is being carried forward rapidly. The derrick on the north bank of the canal, which played an important part in the excavation of rock, has been removed and the filling in of earth around the outside of the north concrete pit is being done with a derrick on a scow that takes the filling from the bottom of the canal. The steel girders have not yet arrived and will not be shipped until after the new bearings are returned and in place. A carload of steel for the north end concrete pit arrived several days ago and has been temporarily loaded on a scow in the canal.

COMMITTEE PICKS SLOGAN FOR CITY

"Menasha, the Industrial City," Is Adjudged Most Fitting

Menasha—"Menasha, the industrial city," is the new slogan. It will succeed the present slogan, "Menasha, the city of paper and pails," which has been in use for nearly 20 years. Such was the decision of the slogan committee which made its selection out of more than 20 submitted in a recent contest. The slogan was turned in by Harold Frakes and George Jedwabne.

"Work, play and prosper in Menasha" was selected as second place slogan and "Menasha, the manufacturing city," won third place. The former was submitted by Suzanne Knorr and the latter by a group of persons including Elmer Becker, Earl Nemis, Harold Forness, Virginia Steck and John Schumann. The slogan committee consisted of George Banta, Jr., J. E. Kitowski and Ira H. Clough.

7 TEACHERS QUIT TO BE MARRIED

Vacancies Will Be Filled by School Board at Early Meeting

Neenah — Six of the eight women teachers who are resigning this year, and one of the men teachers, are to be married, according to reports from school officials. The male teacher to enter matrimony will be Gordon Alberts, assistant principal at Washington school. He will wed Miss Frances Cneeseeman, McKinley school grade teacher. Other teachers to be married are Miss Eleanor Denhardt, Miss Dorothy Wielep, Miss Florence Sorenson, Miss Clara Becker and Miss Myrtle Wolf. The places made vacant by the resignations of these people, with exception of Mr. Alberts, are to be filled by the school board at a meeting in the near future. There will be no change in the high school teaching force other than a successor for Mr. Ballantine, who will have full charge of the new Senior high school, and the addition of Clarence Brendenick as assistant coach and teacher in the manual training department.

NEENAH SOCIETY

Neenah—Justice Chris Jensen was entertained Wednesday afternoon by the Good Fellowship club of Sunnyview sanatorium in honor of his birthday anniversary. Supper was served and the judge received a desk set from the club.

A license to marry was issued Wednesday by George Manuel, Winnebago co. clerk, to Anton Weber and Miss Clara Jacobs, both of Menasha. The young people will be married by the Rev. John Hummel Tuesday morning, June 18, at St. Mary church.

The district convention of Odd Fellows will be held at Oshkosh on the afternoon and evening of June 15, according to an announcement received by the local lodge. The lodges to be present are from the nineteenth district, which includes Stokbridge, Kaukauna, Appleton, Neenah-Menasha and three Oshkosh chapters. E. C. Smith of Appleton, district secretary, will be the chief speaker. Supper will be served after which the evening will be spent in cards and dancing.

Prithan Sisters will entertain at a 6:30 dinner Friday evening at Castle hall to which all Knights and ladies and sisters are invited. This will be the last dinner before the summer. Following the dinner a class of six candidates will be initiated. The Green Bay Temple, instituted last week by the Neenah Temple, has made reservations for a large group.

The marriage of Miss Ermetta Dalton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Dalton of Oshkosh, and John Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barnett of Neenah, will take place at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at St. Thomas Episcopal church. The services will be in charge of the Rev. A. Gordon Powkes.

MRS. MINNIE LUEDTKE
Menasha—Mrs. Minnie Luedtke, 71, died Tuesday afternoon at her home, 41 Nassau-st., after a several weeks' illness. She was born in the town of Buchanan and came to Menasha from High Cliff about 50 years ago. She is survived by three sons and five daughters: George, Arthur and Florence, Menasha; Mrs. P. L. Schneller and Mrs. Harold Windel, Los Angeles, Calif.; Miss Adeline Luedtke, Minneapolis; John Luedtke and Mrs. Joseph Felt-hausen, Milwaukee; and one brother, John Gass of Appleton. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the residence and will be conducted by the Rev. A. C. Rabehl of Neenah. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

MENASHA PERSONALS

Menasha — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kelly of Anaconda, Mont., are visiting Menasha relatives. Mrs. Kelly before her marriage was Miss Mathilda Tuchscherer of Menasha, daughter of Adam Tuchscherer, who has been living in Montana for the last 25 years.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Crockett and sons have left on a western automobile trip.

Del Mayew is taking a several days vacation from his duties at the postoffice.

Menasha—Howard Barker, who resides on the Appleton-rd on the outskirts of Menasha, severed two arteries in his knee Wednesday while splitting wood. He was removed to Theda Clark hospital.

CAMP DIRECTORS FOR BRIGADE SELECTED

Neenah — Camp directors have been selected for the annual encampment of the Boys Brigade which will start next Wednesday at Onaway Island and continue for eight days. Captain Leo Schubart and S. F. Shattuck will have direct charge of the camp, with Aaron Dix and Lyle Stip in charge of bikes and river trips. Clarence Eredendick and John Schneller in charge of athletics, and Gordon Brown in charge of swimming activities. The Rev. T. J. Reykall will be the camp chaplain and Mrs. Dix will be in charge of the meals.

AUDITORS CHECK LAMBERT'S BOOKS

Treasurer Absent from Office for Week—Authorities Are Silent

Neenah—Although Lawrence Lambert, city treasurer, has been publicly charged as being short in his accounts, there is no positive proof that such is the case, according to members of the auditing commission and officials at the city hall. Lambert has been absent from his office for the past week. City officials refused to discuss the matter now. The commission has given out nothing to either Mayor Sande, the city clerk or the finance committee or anybody else regarding a shortage. The auditors will complete their work of auditing the city's books the latter part of the week.

VIEW ALONG MAIN-ST. IS UNOBSTRUCTED NOW

Menasha—With telephone and telegraph wire and poles all removed and with the interurban tracks being replaced with concrete, Main-st. now presents about as clean and unobstructed a view as any main thoroughfare in the state. At one time the street was a network of wires, and poles lined both sides of the pavement. Work of narrowing the sidewalks to make it possible to park automobiles at an angle was started several months ago and will be completed later in the summer. Federal highway 41 is routed over the street.

WOMAN RECOVERING FROM POISON DRINK

Suffering from Nervous Breakdown, She Swallows Iodine

Menasha — Mrs. Leon Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jensen, who has been suffering from a nervous breakdown, procured an ounce bottle of iodine shortly after 7 o'clock Thursday morning while she drank in front of Frank C. Hoffman's grocery store. After draining the contents of the bottle she informed Harvey Nash, clerk in the grocery store, what she had done. The clerk secured the assistance of William Mullane and carried her into the store and immediately notified the police department. A taxi was secured and she was taken to Theda Clark hospital. Dr. A. B. Jensen was summoned and pronounced her out of danger two hours later.

"I am giving the Federal Trade commission a chance to test this outfit," the publisher declared. "I promise you that I will not dodge an indictment for perjury because of

POSTPONE COMMISSION HEARING AT MENASHA

Menasha—Hearing on application or the city of Menasha for permission to extend electric service into the town of Menasha, which was to have been held before the Wisconsin Railroad commission at the city hall at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, was indefinitely postponed at the request of the city. The reason of the postponement was that the city was not ready to proceed with it, according to Mayor W. E. Held.

SEN. NORRIS IS DARED TO PROVE CHARGE

Copley Defies Nebraskan to Make Same Statements Outside of Senate

Washington (AP)—Ira C. Copley, head of the Copley Press, Inc., which publishes California and Illinois newspapers, through the Federal Trade Commission, today challenged Senator Norris of Nebraska, to "repeat on the street as facts" his charges in congress that he was connected with public power utility interests.

Appearing before the commission's investigation into publicity activities of public power utilities at his own request, the publisher in a lengthy statement not only denied the Nebraska senator's charges but declared that if they were expressed outside the "privileged" territory of the senate he would "promptly" bring him (Norris) before a court of justice.

In his statement Copley categorically denied that he had financed the purchase of his newspapers with "so-called power trust money," that he was interested in power companies owned by Samuel Insull, the Illinois utilities magnate, and that he now owned any public power utility securities.

Declaring that as an Illinois representative he had served with Senator Norris in the house, the publisher said he has regarded the Nebraskan "as a man actuated by the highest motives." He added, however, that the senator "has been so entirely misinformed in this matter, and it is apparent from his comments in the (Congressional) record that he regarded me as being convicted, that I would like to offer this challenge through you to him."

THREATEN'S SUIT

"I would like to challenge Senator Norris," Copley continued, "to repeat on the street as facts the things which he has said in the senate, branding them as rumors, it is true, but nevertheless carrying the stigma. If he will state this outside of the privileged chamber of the senate, I will promptly bring him before a court of justice."

If the commission or Senator Norris did not think his denial of the charges was true, Copley declared, "I dare you or him to indict me." He added that he then would have a check "before a federal court of justice to have this matter settled once and for all time."

Copley said the charge of his connection with the power industry, in particular with the Insull interests, was started "by a competing newspaper in Springfield, Ill." He testified that the first charges were made through Willis J. Spaulding, city commissioner of public property of Springfield, Ill., who "went" to southern California to dig up whatever he could to put horns on my head and cleave my feet and sent letters back to the Springfield Register. The second attack, he continued, was begun with an editorial in the Los Angeles Examiner, and then Senator Norris on May 20 read "an anonymous night letter" from a San Francisco man, claiming Copley owned $5,000,000 of power utilities stock.

"I am giving the Federal Trade commission a chance to test this outfit," the publisher declared. "I promise you that I will not dodge an indictment for perjury because of

"WONDERFUL" IS HEALTH BROUGHT BY NEW KONJOLA

"It Is Astonishing, What Konjola Did for Me," Says Grateful Man

MR. EDWARD MARTI

"Konjola did what all other medicines did not even start to do," said Mr. Edward Marti, R. F. D. No. 1, Donahue, Ia. "For years I suffered tortures from stomach and kidney troubles. My digestion was all wrong, gas formed on my stomach. I bloated, and was bothered by heart palpitation. Besides, my kidneys did not work as they should, and my system was filled with poisons. I lost weight and strength. "But Konjola took hold of my case right from the start. Within four weeks my health troubles had disappeared. As my food digested, I gained weight, strength and vitality. My kidneys were corrected, and the poisons driven from my system. I feel like a new man, eager to do my work. No wonder Konjola is called the master medicine."

Konjola is sold in Appleton at Schlitz drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

ART GOEBEL FLIES TO SHEBOYGAN GATHERING

Sheboygan (AP)—Art Goebel, winner of the Dole flight from California to Hawaii in 1927, was an honor guest here today. The famous flier piloted his Stinson-Detroler monoplane from Kansas City to Sheboygan Wednesday, bringing as his passenger, Col. Conrad H. Mann, national organizer of the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The organization is holding its state convention here. Goebel covered the distance in six hours of flying time, despite a northwest gale.

MOVE TO LIMIT TARIFF IS DEFEATED, 11 TO 7

Washington (AP)—The senate finance committee today voted down a motion by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, that the committee confine its tariff revision to agricultural products. The vote 11 to 7, against motion was strictly along party lines.

lack of quorum or any other technicality. I will welcome it and I will then have a chance to prove to the satisfaction of every fair-minded, decent citizen of the United States the falseness of these dastardly attacks which have been made upon me and my newspaper business and under cover of privilege instigated in one instance, I know, and the other, I suspect, by business rivals."

REVIEWS HIS CAREER

Copley in his statement reviewed his business career as an owner of public utilities, the Western United Gas and Electric company and its parent company, the Western United corporation, which operated in the rural districts of Illinois. At the age of 62, he sold his holdings in these utility concerns, he related, and then, because he did not want to retire from business activity in the summer of 1927, decided to enter the newspaper field.

He then purchased the San Diego, Calif., Union and the Tribune, he declared, adding this property to three Illinois newspapers which he had owned prior to 1926, respectively, The Elgin Courier-News, the Aurora Beacon-News and the Joliet Herald-News. These newspapers, he added, were owned by the Copley Press, Inc., of which he held "every share of stock."

He said that he owned personally, not through corporate ownership, the Hollywood, Calif., News, the Long Beach, Calif., Sun, and the contract to buy the Illinois State Journal of Springfield. He added, he also owned a "very preponderant majority" of the stock of the Southern California Newspapers associated, formerly the Kellogg Newspapers, Inc., which own all or a majority of the capital stock of more than ten California newspapers.

"Since the beginning of 1928 up to the present time I have invested more than $7,500,000 in newspaper properties," he declared.

In connection with the sale of his Western United securities to Samuel Insull in late 1927, Copley said it was done through the financial syndicate which had charge of selling them. As soon as he learned of Insull's purchase, he declared, he resigned as president and director of that concern. He added that he had negotiated for the purchase of his last group of newspapers, the Kellogg properties, prior to Insull's acquisition of the securities.

"I am giving the Federal Trade commission a chance to test this outfit," the publisher declared. "I promise you that I will not dodge an indictment for perjury because of

FIVE UTILITY BILLS WIN O.K. OF ASSEMBLY

All Intended to Smooth Way for Public Ownership of Electricity

Madison—(AP)—Five proposals to enhance state, district and municipal ownership and operation of electric utilities were passed or advanced by the assembly Wednesday and Wednesday night.

The Reis resolution, to bring about two years from now, a popular vote on a constitutional amendment to allow the state to enter the power business was passed 71 to 19 after a two-hour debate, and under suspension of rules, granted after the Perry-Reis-Goff coalition victory was made certain.

At night the assembly adopted the Carow resolution to allow municipalities a wider debt range on their utilities; passed the Thayer municipal unit taxation bill; engrossed the Reis power districts bill and engrossed the Loomis municipal competition bill.

There was but slight debate preceding the adoption of the resolution by J. W. Cusack, Ladysmith. Calling for passage by another legislature and popular vote, as does the Reis state-electricity resolution, its final aim is a constitutional amendment allowing municipalities to go into debt beyond the present 5 per cent of their valuation limit on a municipal utility. It was adopted 74 to 6.

The Thayer bill, also passed by an almost unanimous vote and virtually without debate, allows the railroad commission to consider, for rate making purposes, two or more municipalities as a regional unit when the same utility serves both or all of them.

AINS TO CUT RATES

It is aimed to allow the railroad commission through consideration of total cost of operation over a wide area, to reduce its finding of cost and thereby reduce local rates.

On the first vote, ordering the bill engrossed, there were 81 favorable votes to 2, those of Assemblymen Engel and Fronck, against the bill. On passage there were 82 for the bill and only Engel of Milwaukee, against it.

The Reis bill, allowing the creation of power districts by municipalities and other divisions of the government, met the strongest debate, before it was engrossed, 55 to 32. The assembly had refused to kill it 35 to 51 before the advancement was given, but when attempts were made to rush it through final passage, as had been done on the three other measures the move was blocked. Assemblyman Frank Prescott, Milwaukee, moved for reconsideration of the vote by which it was engrossed. This, too, was refused immediate consideration and will come up later.

The Loomis bill, allowing municipalities to enter their local fields in competition with private electric utilities was engrossed 50 to 35, but its final passage was also blocked by adjournment of the legislators who had participated in the people's ownership field day.

On each of the debated bills, arguments were much the same as made in extensive committee hearings on them, and on each of the measures Speaker Charles B. Perry, associated with the Progressive floor leader, Reis, in several successful Conservative-Progressive drives, joined in vote, debate or both.

50-YEAR-OLD MOTHER SENT TO PRISON FOR BREAKING "DRY" LAW

Fort Smith, Ark.—A 50-year-old mother, who pleaded guilty to a prohibition law violation that her husband might be freed to care for her 12 children, today made ready for her journey to the Federal Industrial prison at Alderson, W. Va., and an imprisonment of 18 months.

Admitting responsibility for the liquor business which officers said they found on the couple's farm 30 miles north of here, Mrs. Joe Post heard her sentence and a $10 fine, similar charges against her husband had been dropped.

A lenient plea by defense who cited the woman's large family and her previous clear record, brought little sympathy from the bench. Judge Frank A. Youmans replied:

"It is too bad that Theodore Roosevelt is no longer living," he explained his remark applied to the late president's fondness for large families and Mr. Roosevelt's sympathy for erring parents.

FORTY THREE CASES OF WHOOPING COUGH HERE

The number of cases of whooping cough in Appleton is decreasing and at present 43 homes are under quarantine, according to a report of Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. Several homes will be released within the next few days.

A month ago there were approximately 100 cases, according to Mr. Sanders. During May of 1928 there were two homes under quarantine and in the early part of June there was one case. Unseasonable weather conditions are probably the cause of the epidemic, Mr. Sanders believes.

MISSOURIAN NAMED TO POST IN PHILIPPINES

Washington—(AP)—The boy who took in the case out in Iowa and affairs of the state department waited for two weeks made good.

Fred G. Heins of Alma, Mo., today found himself promoted from a clerkship in the state department at $1,850 a year to the position of confidential secretary to Governor General Davis of the Philippine Islands, at a salary of $3,000 a year. Governor Davis asked all the departments to submit candidates for the position and picked Heins after interviewing hundreds of applicants.

When notified of his appointment to the state department in 1921 Heins wired back, "can't come for two weeks. Must take in the cross."

He was then working on a farm in Iowa. He has a perfect record in the division of foreign service administration in the state department.

ADOPT RESOLUTION FOR STEAMSHIP COMMITTEE

Madison—(AP)—The Assembly has adopted a joint resolution and sent it to the senate, calling for a joint committee to meet the German steamship "Milwaukee" when it first docks in this country after its maiden voyage. The ship was recently christened with a ceremony in which Mayor Hean of Milwaukee had a part, at Hamburg, Germany.

Very-easy Shortcake
for Strawberries and other seasonal fruits

Keep this very easy shortcake recipe always handy.

2 cups flour 2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons
1/2 teaspoon Dr. Price's shortening
Phosphate Baking 1 egg
Powder 1/2 cup milk

Sift dry ingredients, cut in shortening; add beaten egg to milk and add to dry ingredients to make soft dough. Because Dr. Price's is a quick baking powder, it will start right here to puff up your shortcake.

Roll dough in half. Take one half, pat out lightly and put into greased deep layer tin; spread with butter; cover with other half of dough which has also been patted out to fit pan. Bake in hot oven at 450° F. Dr. Price's will continue to puff up your shortcake all the time it is baking. And at the end of 20 or 25 minutes, you will find that it is light and fluffy and delicately browned.

Split while hot and spread crushed and sweetened berries and whipped cream between layers, cover top with whipped cream and whole berries. Dust with powdered sugar and serve — to a very pleased family.

BUNIONEERS WILL FINISH IN FEW DAYS

Twenty Minutes Separate Johnny Salo and Pete Gavuzzi, Leaders

Jacumba, Cal. —(AP)— With less than 20 minutes separating the two leaders in the Pyle cross country race and the finish at Los Angeles only at a matter of a few days, the lap of 76 miles to San Diego, Cal., Thursday was viewed as one of the most important for the leg weary road plodders.

Pete Gavuzzi, England, had a lead of only 9 minutes and 55 seconds over Johnny Salo, Passaic, N. J., at the start of the long hike. Salo materially reduced the Italian's advantage Wednesday by winning the 35 mile run from Calexico, Cal., in 9 hours, 9 minutes and 5 seconds. Gavuzzi finished third. Giusto Umek, of Italy, third in elapsed time was second.

The elapsed time standings: Pete Gavuzzi, England, 485.30.28. John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 485.50.24. Giusto Umek, Italy, 550.10.08. Sam Richman, New York, 526.26.18. Philip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 569.14.35. M. E. McNamara, Australia, 582.35.04.

WILD ROSE BEATEN BY BERLIN BOOSTERS

Berlin — Berlin Boosters blanked Wild Rose at the Little Silver lake ball park Sunday afternoon, 12 to 0. Alberts, Berlin's pitcher, allowed only two hits in the game. The locals returned home with 12 hits and 12 runs. Sunday's game was a repetition of the one played with Princeton here a week ago when the Boosters took the game with an even dozen hits and runs.

DESIGN COSTUME FOR NON-BATHERS

Outfit Consists of Long Shorts and Double Breasted Coatee

BY AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press

New York—Everybody bathes this summer, but some like the "daring daughter," stay out of the water and bathe in the sun. For these a new costume has been devised. It consists of long shorts in the main. These are usually of white flannel and are very wide and come just above the knee. This is topped by a square cut double breasted coatee. A scarf about the waist and one about the hat complete the costume along with bare foot shoes. Such costumes are a boon to those who do their daily dozens on the beach or joint in beach sports without going too near the water.

Most of the summer coats have their points. They have them at either side of the uneven hem line and they are emphasized by a bordering of summer fur. Usually the latter is sable which also has the wide mosquito cuffs. The coats usually are of black satin with a wide white border high in back and cut away in front.

The latest fad of the about-to-be-operated upon woman of fashion is to take her jewel case or a zoodly part of its contents to the hospital with her. She may ignore it for a time but during convalescence she is likely to have her nurse produce her pearls or bracelets or necklaces of pastel colored stones like aquamarines or rose quartz. Doctors encourage this for they say if a feminine patient thinks she looks better, she feels better.

Yellow is constantly asserting its prominence among the color choices of the season. At the smart race meetings, the horse-shows and the other gatherings in both town and country yellow is constantly seen. Usually it forms a background for contrasting color printed designs.

Washington —(AP)— Six out of 21 engines of six different types tested in the past year were granted approved type certificates for use in approved type airplanes. The results show that the new development work before going into production and indicates the importance of testing as a protection to the public, the bureau says in a bulletin.

Four engines were withdrawn after they were submitted for tests and 11 failed to pass the requirements. The bureau began testing engines new commercial airplane engines as a protection to the public March 1 last year.

Rollin' along Singin' a song

"It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary" but you can make that trip and a lot more like it on Miller's—without one thought of tire trouble. Yes, sir, Miller's just roll along singin' that song, "Smile, Boys, Smile." No need to worry about sharp turns and sharp rocks on the road, for here's a tire that seldom goes "flat."

Step on the gas and your Millers will give you a "Rushin' Lullaby." Slam on the brakes and they'll say "Thanks for the Buggy Ride."

You may be "A Million Miles from Nowhere" but these tires will "Show You the Way to Go Home" without a murmur.

Come in tomorrow and we'll show you why thousands of motorists are singing "Since I Found You."

DIRECTORS OF FARM LOAN ASSOCIATION TO HOLD CONFERENCE

Other Meetings to Be Held at Chippewa Falls and Portage

Clintonville — The annual district conference of officers and directors of the National Farm Loan association will be held at the Hotel Marion in this city on Friday.

The meeting will start at noon with a luncheon and continue through the afternoon. Similar meetings will be held at Chippewa Falls on June 12 and Portage on June 13.

The meeting here will be put on under the direction of the Federal land bank of St. Paul, under which this district and the Clintonville Farm Loan association operates. At a recent meeting held to take charge of entertaining the many visitors that are expected to attend, a committee consisting of N. J. Schmidt, Harry Plumb, Otto Neuenfeld, Otto Dieck and Mrs. Janke, were appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

Officers and directors of the district, all officers and directors of the various local associations in this district and the officers of the Federal Land bank of St. Paul will be present. An excellent program is being arranged.

The local association has 69 members and 14 applications are pending approval by the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul. The local institution enjoys a Class A rating having no delinquencies and is one of the 17 local associations in the state having this record. The Clintonville branch includes the townships of St. Lawrence, Little Wolf, Iebanon, Bear Creek, Union, Helvetia, Wyoming, Dupont, Larrabee and Matteson in Waupaca-co, Maple Creek, Boyana, Black Creek, Cicero Maine and Deer Creek in Outagamie-co, and Fairbanks, Morris, Seneca, Grant, Herman, Pella, Richmond, Belle Plaine, Wescott, Waubesa, Washington, Hartland, Navarino and Lessor in Shawano-co.

Officers of the local association are: N. J. Schmidt, president; C. L. Raiser, Vice-President; Max Stieg, secretary-treasurer; Ed. Peters, Fred Zellmer and Harry Plumb, directors.

On Tuesday afternoon the Audit Division of the District Society, Congressional chapter, held a meeting in the church parlors. The meeting was scheduled to be held in Central park, but because of weather conditions was changed. The afternoon was spent socially and refreshments served. Over 50 members and friends attended.

Mrs. Herman Brohm entertained a number of children at her home on Tuesday afternoon in honor of the eighth birthday anniversary of her daughter Betty. The afternoon was spent socially and refreshments served. The guests included: June Greb, Maxine Meggers, June Roberts, Mae Patterson, Betty Spiegel, Elaine Sandon, Virginia Laabs, June Buckbee, Dorothy Williams, Donald Schroeder, June Abrahamson, Elaine Gretzinger, Shirley Sheldore, Virginia Schmitke and Elizabeth Campbell.

WEYAUWEGA GROUPS TO CONDUCT JOINT PICNIC

Weyauwega — The Waupaca-co organization of Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors who formerly have had their annual picnic at the fair grounds at Weyauwega, will hold their picnic at Iola, June 23. The county organization was founded about five years ago by the local camp and at first was composed of a small group.

Dale Ralph, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Reek was christened Sunday morning during church services by the Rev. Max Hensel. Thirty-two relatives and friends were entertained at a dinner after the ceremony, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al. Roehl. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reek of Marshfield were here for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Maynard attended the graduation exercises of Lawrence college, Appleton, when their niece, Miss Norma Erd graduated from the Conservatory of Music. Others who attended the exercises were Mrs. F. Russell and daughter, Ruth, to witness the graduation of Miss Miriam Russell, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cohen. Miss Goldie Cohen was a member of the class.

The Dorcas society of the Methodist church met at the home of the Misses Helen and Francis Gates Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Knute of Wisconsin Rapids, have moved here and are living in the George Powers home on West Main-st. Mr. Knute is employed by the Weyauwega Milling company.

CHILD SUFFERS DEEP LEG CUT FROM FALL

Waupaca — Mildred Grant, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grant cut a large gash just above the knee of her right leg Saturday when she fell against the carrier of the family automobile while playing with the other children in the yard at the Grant home on route 2 Almond. It required 9 stitches to close the wound.

A son, Mainard Emil, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Emil R. Schulte, Almond, Saturday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Olson, Sheridan, Sunday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Roberts of the Wisconsin Veterans Home at the home of Mrs. Leonard Button.

PARENTS SEE STUDENTS AT WORK AT GREENVILLE

Greenville — About 40 parents were entertained at Happy Valley School, Greenville last Friday evening when they witnessed the various classes, under the direction of the teacher, Miss Margaret Sambs, at work. Demonstrations in reading, language, arithmetic and geography were given. The school society also demonstrated its ability at conducting a business meeting after the demonstrations the parents took part in a geography contest which furnished much entertainment.

WAKES UP IN CAR TO FRIGHTEN AWAY YOUTHFUL THIEF

New London — A youthful "highwayman" was aided in his attempt to take his lady friends for a ride in a borrowed car Tuesday evening, when the owner of the car awoke from a short nap in the rear seat. Mrs. Harrell Parks drove her car to the side of the Borden factory between 8 and 9 o'clock and while waiting for her husband to finish his work fell asleep in the back seat. The car was on an incline, and the brakes were awakened by the movement of the car and sound of the brakes. Raising up she found a young man busily engaged in pushing the car into the roadway, and a short distance away waited two young women. The man seeing that the car was occupied leaped to shelter provided by another waiting car. The party made a quick getaway.

LEGIONAIRES ATTEND MEETING AT KAUKAUNA

New London — A delegation of legionnaires from the Norris Spencer post will attend the county council meeting at Kaukauna on Thursday evening. Business will be followed by an informal period. At that time plans will be made for the Racine convention to be held later.

At the regular meeting of the Legion on June 25 the general chairman for the annual home coming celebration, which will be held on Aug. 31, and Sept. 1 and 2.

ZERRENNER FUNERAL WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

New London — The funeral of Otto Zerrenner was held on Wednesday afternoon. Bearers were John Dickinson, William Wilkie, Robert Dauterman, Charles Webb, Otto Stern and William Viel. The service at the house was conducted by the Rev. H. P. Freeling of the Congregational church, and the Pythian ritual was used at the grave.

Among the out of town relatives and friends present were Mr. and Mrs. Orin Constance, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hockers, Mrs. Lena Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hanson, Green Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wetengel, Appleton; F. A. Schmidt, Wahoo, Neb.; J. C. Neville, Winona, Minn.

HAMILTONS NOSE OUT PLYWOODS IN BASEBALL

New London — Hamilton baseball team nosed out the Plywoods team when the Wooden Men's infield went to pieces in the sixth inning of Wednesday evening's game. They tallied four times to beat the losers by a 10 to 8 score. Schepke's home run for Hamilton's was the longest hit of the game, while Burton's catch, which he juggled two of three times before capturing the ball stopped a belated rally made by the Plywoods. His catch was turned into a double play. Huntley and Wolf-rath were the opposing pitchers.

STORM CRIPPLES ELECTRIC LINES

Farms Without Service; Damages Are Not Serious and Will Soon Be Repaired

Weyauwega — The storm Tuesday crippled telephone and light service in this vicinity to a great extent, affecting nearly all the farm lines. No serious damage occurred, however, and service will soon be back to normal.

Two cars, one from Minnesota and one from Stevens Point, collided on Meikel's corner on Highway 19 between Weyauwega and Waupaca, after the storm when one car skidded on the wet pavement and pushed another car into the ditch. No one was injured but the cars were both damaged to some extent.

The Weyauwega Women's club met Tuesday evening for its first meeting of the season. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. F. Russell; vice president, Mrs. F. Larcke; secretary, Mrs. Hans Peterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Agnes Walrath; treasurer, Miss Addie Neidhold. Mrs. Russell gave a talk on the program for the coming year, and the following program committee was appointed, Mrs. F. Russell, Mrs. W. H. Shreve and Addie Neidhold.

The Weyauwega and Waupaca school bands combined under the direction of C. T. Carroll of Waupaca will give the first of a series of band concerts at the school grounds on Friday, June 21.

LADIES AID TO GIVE PICNIC FOR CHILDREN

Bear Creek — Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Rohan of the town of Bear Creek were called there by the death of Mrs. Rohan's nephew, John Stevens of Menico.

The members of the Ladies Aid society of the Grace Lutheran church at Sugar Bush are making preparations for a children's picnic to be held on the church grounds, Sunday, June 16. The ladies will serve a chicken dinner and supper.

STOCKBRIDGE LOSES TO FOND DU LAC NINE

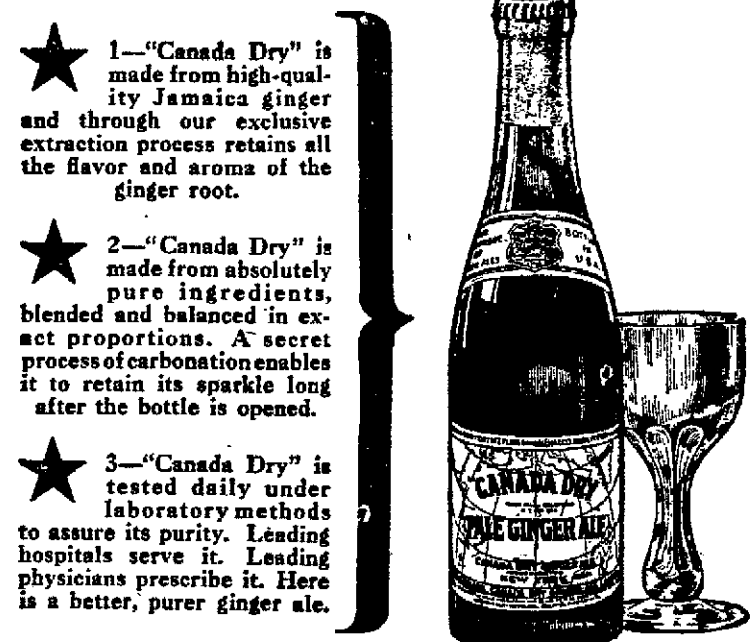

Stockbridge — The Stockbridge Aces played the Fond du Lac Sharps on Sunday and lost by a score of 2 to 3 to Fond du Lac. A bicycle race around the diamond in which Perry Comerfort won was an added attraction.

GRANT CITY RIGHT TO BUILD SEWER INTO RIVER

Board of Health Approves Proposal for Jefferson-st Project

Kaukauna — Verbal permission to lay an independent sewer to carry sewage from Jefferson-st. into the river was given by the state board of health last week to the city of Kaukauna, according to A. E. McMahon, acting city engineer. He was sent to Madison to ask permission to build an independent sewer, thus saving the expense of putting in a pump to convey the sewage of that vicinity into the main sewer on Wisconsin-ave.

Permission was given in view of the fact that a metropolitan sewer district may be formed. Such a system would include at least Kaukauna, Little Chute, Combined Locks and possibly Kimberly. Organization of such a district has been discussed several times in the last few years and is looked upon favorably by the state board of health. A meeting of the board of public works was soon held at which plans will be made and sent to the state board. When these are passed on work will be started on the independent sewer.

Present plans for conveying the sewage from Jefferson-st include a pump with which to transfer the waste into the main sewer. At the last council meeting Engineer McMahon suggested the laying of an independent sewer which would run to the river through the ravine in the Tourist park. He said it would save money for the residents in that section of the city and would be in accord with the proposed metropolitan sewer district.

Laying of sewers has been completed on Jefferson-st up to the installation of the pump. Work has been suspended until after a meeting of the board of public works, at which it will be decided to install the pump or make plans for the proposed independent sewer.

Kaukauna — The fire department was called to the Joseph Lehrer Butcher shop, 205 Dodge-st, about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening when the smoke house caught fire. No damage resulted.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derus. His telephone number is 184-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derus.

ELECTRICIANS DOWN TIMES SOFTBALL TEAM

Kaukauna — Electricians took an easy Twilight league softball game from the Kaukauna Times by a score of 12 to 3 Wednesday evening at the softball grounds in the rear of the library. Mertel pitched for the winners and Brenzel caught. Kalupa pitched for the Times and Broucek caught. A postponed game between the Bankers and the Andrews Oils will be played Friday evening.

KAUKAUNA FARMERS WILL MEET SUNDAY

Organization of Farm Group Will Be Discussed at Mass Meeting

Kaukauna—There will be a mass meeting of farmers of this vicinity at Van Abel's hall at Hollandtown at 2:30 Sunday afternoon to discuss the need of a farm organization. According to the committee in charge this is the only means by which farmers can better their condition.

The principal speakers will be George A. Nelson of Milltown and J. M. Sevenich of Milwaukee. Mr. Nelson is president of the American Society of Equity and is a well known speaker and farm organizer. Mr. Sevenich is editor of a Milwaukee newspaper. Mayor W. C. Sullivan also has been invited to appear at the meeting.

A hope was expressed by the committee that as many local business men as possible will attend the meeting. John W. Bruecker is chairman of the committee in charge.

15 TURN OUT FOR FIRST VOLLEYBALL PRACTICE

Kaukauna—Fifteen men reported for the first outdoor volleyball practice at the volleyball court in the rear of the public library Tuesday evening. Practices will be held there weekly during the summer. The summer practices were scheduled to start a week ago, but had to be postponed on account of rain. Next week a group of Little Chute volleyballers will hold a joint meeting with the local players. The practice will be held from 6 to 8 o'clock in the evening. The tennis schedule of the Kaukauna tennis club which conflicted with the volleyball schedule on Tuesday was changed to Monday night.

HAASS STARTS WORK ON ANNUAL SCHOOL CENSUS

Kaukauna—J. J. Haass, principal of the Junior high school, has started to take the school census of the city of Kaukauna. The work will be completed about the middle of July. At the present time he is calling at all the homes on the north side of the city. The census is taken annually. He was appointed to do the work by the board of education.

PIGEON CLUB SETS TIMERS FOR RACE

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Pigeon club met Tuesday evening at the home of Ben Pahl on Wisconsin-ave to set timers for the next scheduled race of the club. Sunday, from Britt, Ia. The birds will be shipped to that city Friday and will be released early Sunday morning. Several hundred birds will be entered in the race.

SWIMMING CLASSES FOR WOMEN START FRIDAY

Kaukauna—Instructions in swimming will be given to women at a class to be held from 9 to 10:30 Friday morning in the municipal swimming pool in the municipal building. The class will be conducted by Fay Posson. Classes will be continued at the same hours every Friday morning if the response warrants them.

WASHINGTON MENUS IN CONGRESSIONAL RECORD AS EVIDENCE

Washington — (AP) — Menus of a Washington restaurant and the senate dining room have been put into the congressional record by Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, as evidence that freight rates have raised the prices of the food listed. Roast beef was priced at 85 cents and mashed potatoes at 25 cents. "If you will notice the prices that we pay for the farm commodities on those bills of fare and what the farmer gets for them," Blease said, "you will see proportionately how much we pay for freight rates."

R. C. A., UNIVERSAL RACE FOR LEAD IN RADIO-TELEGRAPHY

Former Company Picks Up Speed as It Secures 15 More Channels

BY ROBERT MACK Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press

Washington—A grueling race between the Radio Corporation of America, hardened pioneer in the radio communications field, and the Universal Wireless Communications company, a newcomer, for the first place in serving the public by radio-telegraphy, has begun.

Granted 15 additional short wave channels in the continental band along with the right to convert certain of its trans-oceanic channels for continental use, the R. C. A. was taken off, to overtake the time handicap of the Universal. The latter company was granted forty channels last December with which to interconnect 110 cities by radio, in competition with the wire lines of the existing telegraph companies. But the R. C. A., with its wealth of experience, its manufacturing plants, its trained personnel and its financial reserve can well afford the handicap. It awaited only the word "go" from the commission. Even though the commission's grant fell far short of what it sought, the R. C. A. will invade the virgin domestic radio telegraph field with alacrity. It already has commenced its continental radio service for the public between the Pacific coast and New York, but, with its new grant it will invade some 30 cities, to serve them just as do the telegraph companies, and also to provide a "feeder" and pickup service within the United States, for its far-flung transoceanic network, entering 32 foreign countries.

UNIVERSAL PLODS ALONG Universal is plodding along—building its organization from the ground up. Its task is more difficult than the R. C. A. because it had no experience or personnel or organization behind it. When granted the forty channels last December, it had only an experimental laboratory, a board of directors and the precious group of patents that won for it the original award over the R. C. A. Officials of the company claim to have two stations in New York and Chicago—in actual operation. By December 1931 it must have its entire quota of 110 stations operating, and by December of this year, it must have ten stations serving the public by radio.

The competition between these two companies unquestionably will be enlivened by court action. There is every indication that the R. C. A. will carry its controversy with the commission over the Universal grant to the courts. Then there is the element of patents. It may or may not be that Universal has infringed on R. C. A. patents, or vice versa, but if there is any question about this it will be threshed out in the courts. In any event, Universal is aligning an array of legal talent. It has just retained Edward Everett Gann, of Washington, brother-in-law of Vice-President Curtis, as its Washington counsel.

Formal announcement of the continental short wave allocations has just been made by the commission. It shows that in addition to granting the R. C. A. 10 exclusive channels in this band and five shared with Canada under international agreement, five other channels have been assigned it to replace frequencies which the R. C. A. has held under license from the commerce department even before the commission came into existence. Announcement also is made that the commission has granted the R. C. A. authority to use 36 of its 65 trans-oceanic channels in the domestic service it proposes to establish.

SPECIFIES CHANNELS

In effect this gives the R. C. A. facilities with which to operate most of its proposed service. It had requested, however, forty additional continental channels, instead of the 15 awarded it.

As previously reported by this writer, the commission, in its formal announcement, specifies the forty channels allocated to Universal. Hieretofore, the channels for Universal have not been designated. The commission also officially announces the assignment of two exclusive and three Canadian shared channels to the western Radio and Telegraph company for a public utility network in the oil producing states of the southwest. This company in addition was licensed for the four low frequency channels which it has used experimentally.

"The applications of Mackay Radio and Telegraph company, Chicago Federation of labor, wireless Telegraph and Communication company and Inter-City Radio Telegraph company were denied," the announcement concludes. All these companies sought the right to establish radio telegraph networks, the later three in combination in the event their individual applications failed.

RAMSEYER STARTS EFFORT TO DEFEND TARIFF OMISSIONS

Lays Action to "Economic Reason" in Speech on Duty Increases

BY FRANK I. WELLER
Washington.—(AP)—The position administration members of the house likely will take in defense of certain omissions from agricultural schedules in the new tariff bill is believed to have been outlined by Representative Ramseyer, Iowa.

As a member of the sub-committee that wrote the farm tariffs, Ramseyer declared in a speech that increased duties had been avoided purposely on commodities now showing surplus production or which for economic reasons "would not be benefited by higher rates."

His action was interpreted as putting the sub-committee on a vigorous offensive.

"I can't see," he declared, "how our beef cattle industry is injured if Iowa or some other corn belt state brings in four or five thousand feeders from Canada or Mexico to help eat up the surplus feed. When we add the present duty, stocks and feeders from Canada usually cost more than cattle bought from our western ranges at the same time."

Ramseyer said this country bought about 242,000 stockers and feeders from Canada last year and 255,000 from Mexico. Imports from Canada thus far this year, he said, have been about three-fourths of the imports for the same period last year.

There may be an increase in Mexican cattle, he asserted, because American producers have been driving their herds across the border to escape revolutionists. The new tariff bill does not increase the duty on stockers and feeders.

In regard to caseln, a byproduct of skim milk on which no increase was recommended, Ramseyer declared the bookmakers were paying more for the Argentine product because it is better than the domestic caseln. Eighty-five per cent of caseln stocks is used in the manufacture of paper. The United States produces 21,000,000 pounds and imports 28,000,000 pounds.

Ramseyer said this country can produce about all the caseln it needs and he doesn't see why Americans can't develop caseln of as high quality as the Argentine and command the domestic market.

STEERS FED ONCE DAILY ARE BEST

Experiments Prove They Grow Faster and Give Owner More Profit

Madison.—A lazy man's way of fattening steers was approved by an experiment reported Saturday at the University of Wisconsin. Steers fed once a day grew slightly faster and produced cheaper beef than two other groups, one of which was fed twice a day and the other given free access to corn.

Results of the feeding trial were announced before farmers from all sections of the state who were attending the annual field day at the college of Agriculture.

Three uniform groups of Hereford steers, of 10 head each, were entered in the experiment which continued for 168 days. All of the lots received similar amounts of the same food, except the self-fed group which consumed slightly more corn than the others.

Steers fed once a day made a daily gain of 2.56 pounds of live weight and produced a hundred pounds of gain at a feed cost of $11.90. In both of these particulars, the group excelled the other steers.

Feeding steers but once a day, according to the university report, offers a distinct advantage to dairy men who fatten cattle in conjunction with other winter work. The feeding can be done at a time so that it does not conflict with other chores. The results support the theory of the conservation of energy, which would infer that cattle fed but once a day might be benefited if they were not roused for a second feeding.

The experiment was supervised by J. G. Fuller, C. Boistead and B. H. Roche, members of the department of animal husbandry. So far as is known, the experiment is considered the first ever attempted to compare the efficiency of various methods of fattening beef cattle.

duty was not increased, the Iowan said that as long as this country insists on holding the Philippines it should give them free trade. About 600,000,000 pounds of the oil comes into competition annually with dairy, swine and other products of this country.

FARM FACTS

In an executive order, President Hoover has created a 57,000 acre bird sanctuary on the former site of Fort Keogh Military Reservation near Miles City, Mont. This reservation, under control of the Bureau of Animal Industry, will continue as a range livestock experiment station as heretofore.

Freak weather conditions, country-wide, are responsible for some necessary shifts in crop acreages this season, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Bookkeeping is becoming more and more a part of the dairyman's routine, according to the U. S. Bureau of Dairy Industry. This statement is based on the increase of dairy-herd improvement associations. This movement started with one association in 1896 and has increased to number 1090 at present. Members of these organizations are keeping books on more than 465,800 cows.

Land totaling more than 118,000 acres has been purchased by the federal government for adding to national forests in the Eastern and Great Lakes States. The purchase price was in the neighborhood of $464,800, averaging about $4.60 an acre.

Despite plans of European countries to raise more fruit in an effort to reduce imports and market local crops, the American market for fruits in Europe is sustained. Milton J. Newhouse, who recently returned from Europe from a survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture brought that report back with him.

Static electricity, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports, is the chief cause of fires in cotton gins during the ginning process. In some seasons these fires cause a loss of $1,550,000 in the country. In 1917, Texas alone suffered a loss of $1,000,000 from such fires.

Special service to farmers will be given this year by the U. S. Bureau of Economics. Outlook reports for various crops and livestock production will be sent out in an effort to inform farmers of the prospective demand for their products.

"Health" foods should be avoided, according to W. G. Campbell, chief

FINE PROSPECTS FOR BIG CORP OF HAY

Conditions in Wisconsin Better in Country as a Whole

Madison, Wis.—(AP)—Hay and winter grain outlooks are excellent while spring sown grains are not in as good condition, according to the report of the Wisconsin Crop Reporting service of the federal and state departments of agriculture issued here today.

The report says: "The hay outlook in Wisconsin is better than it was for the United States as a whole, and in most states it is much better than a year ago. The best outlook is found in the states east of the Mississippi river, the condition being very poor in the far western states.

"Pasture conditions in Wisconsin and other states east of the Mississippi are above the average for this time of the year, but in the west are below average.

"May was a cool and dry month in most parts of Wisconsin, and in general crops developed quite slowly except during the last week of the month when we had some warm days. The weather was quite favorable, however, for the planting of corn and soil conditions for this purpose are reported to be quite satisfactory.

"The Wisconsin apple crop is reported to be 82 per cent of normal as compared with 85 per cent a year ago. The cherry crop promises to be about two-thirds of normal. For the country as a whole the apple outlook is not as good as last year. In most states the crop promises to be smaller than in 1928."

SEEK MORE APPLICANTS FOR POLICEMEN'S JOBS

The fire and police commission still is seeking applicants who desire jobs with the city police department, according to E. A. Schmalz, secretary. Mr. Schmalz said the response to the recent call for applications had been very light and that a date for the civil service examination could not be set until a considerably larger number of men had made applications. When a sufficient number of applicants have registered a date will be set for the examination and the applicant with the best standing will be appointed to the department.

SMOOT THROWS AID TO CANDY MEN IN WAR AGAINST FAGS

"Abstain and Grow Fat," He Thunders in Answer to Cigaret Slogans

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1929, by Cons. Press
New York — "Smoke and grow thin," says the tobacco interests. "Abstain and grow fat," thunders Senator Reed Smoot, and at last the humble and remote Utah sugar beet gets into the high-toned, multi-millionaire advertising row, which is leading multitudes of suggestive citizens undecided whether to feel like a gumdrop and reach for a smoke, or feel like a smoke and reach for a gumdrop. They are caught between two fires.

Here among the high commands of the candy and tobacco armies, the arriving sugar beet is accepted as an intervenor in the controversy long overdue. While Senator Smoot had nothing at all to say about sugar beets, rising to defend the women and children of the nation against the insidious poison of the tobacco advertising, he has long been the Sir Galahad of the sugar beef. His blade has been unsheathed against whomever and whatever bode it harm—tariff deflation, growers' associations, drought, dry rot, Russian thistle or cinch bugs. And now he has leaped to defend the women and children it nourishes against the devastating cigarette. In the words of the old song, "It's a Round-about Way to Get At It," but both candy kings and tobacco barons are frank in viewing sugar beets as the objects of Senator Smoot's solicitude.

No one questions Senator Smoot's sincerity in his onslaught against the tobacco advertisers. His state, with a political and religious heritage which bans tobacco and stimulants, once passed the most rigid anti-cigarette law ever enacted in the Union.

A. N. McKay, publisher of the Salt Lake Tribune defiantly violated the law in public and got himself arrested with subsequent exciting uproar and court doings which kept the state in a turmoil for a long time.

SMOOT IS LATE
In 1901, there was a big official drive in Utah against tea and coffee which almost put Sir Thomas Layton out of business, so far as that state was concerned. Senator Smoot's constituency is naturally and conscientiously dry, as alcohol, as well as tobacco, is a prime evil there. So there is nothing far-fetched in the senator's honest rage against feminine smoking—although he is a few years late in giving vent to it. His hatred of tobacco is equaled only by his love of sugar beets, and none can deny that he is faithfully representative of the citizenry of Utah. In Utah the alternative for most of the old established indulgences is to reach for a sugar beet.

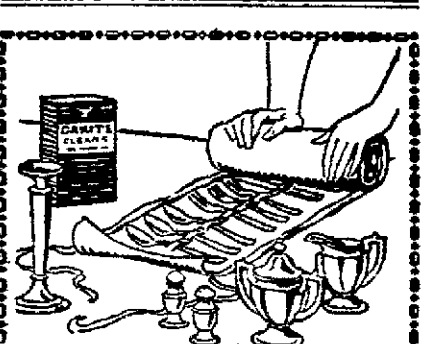

The next step in behalf of the women and children will be for Senator Blease or Senator Simmons or some of the other representatives of the tobacco growing states, to level a lance against the menacing chocolate drop. Thus, there may be knight-errantry in congress, with dry economic issues resolved into dramatic tournaments over milady's vitamins.

The tobacco interests already have announced that they will spend $12,000,000 to carry through their advertising campaign and that they will yield no ground on the question of the propriety of their advertising. The candy-makers have not said what their appropriation would be, but it was understood here today that they were preparing to tap a big war chest. They are not happy over the 18-day diet craze, which, starting at Hollywood, recently began sweeping over the country.

Confectioners and caterers are complaining of the inroads of the diet on their daily takings and there has been a strongly agitated movement in the industry for some kind of a counter-educational campaign based on the food value of sugar. The, at times, rather tempestuous controversy over that "when you feel like" slogan has been most diverting to the general public and the opposed forces may be sure of an intensely interested audience if they put on the expected battle.

But, no matter what happens, it's women and children first.

Student Writes Survey Of Health In Appleton

A book, "Health Survey of Appleton," written by Wallace S. Marshall, son of Dr. and Mrs. V. F. Marshall, 504 E. North-st, as a part of his work in a course in Public Hygiene at the University of Wisconsin, is to be exhibited at Appleton Public library for two weeks. Mr. Marshall is a medical student.

In his book Mr. Marshall thoroughly covers every feature of the city's activities affecting the health of the community. In addition to publishing many facts which he gained through research work he has added to his book many actual photographs of industrial plants, public buildings and interesting scenes in Appleton and vicinity.

The first chapter of the book deals with statistical facts about the city. It outlines the city form of government, the city's educational system and many other facts which tell of the city's business and activities.

Appleton's water system is the subject of the second chapter. Pictures show some of the model features of the system while the author traces the water from the place it is taken from the river until it is sent to the people, exceptionally pure. He touches briefly on some of the improvements planned by the water department.

Mr. Marshall next devotes a portion of his book to discussing the pollution of the river by the paper mills. He lists the large paper manufacturing companies and includes pictures of several of them.

As one feature of his book, in the section dealing with the water supply, Mr. Marshall has included a complete copy of "The Wilsonian," a paper published by students of the Wilson Junior high school. This issue is devoted to a study of the city's water system by the eighth and ninth grade pupils.

The next chapter deals with the city food supply, and methods used to insure pure and wholesome delivery to the people. The book includes copies of reports made by health inspectors. One section tells of Appleton's milk inspection and the methods employed to assure residents a pure milk supply.

The author deals briefly with the city laws which provide for the elimination of nuisances such as outdoor outhouses, garbage disposal and dumping grounds.

The city's school system is discussed and the book contains many pictures of local school buildings. One chapter is devoted to Lawrence college. Another chapter is devoted to the county's sanatorium, River-view, at Combined Locks. The system under which this institution operates and the benefits which the county derives also are outlined.

A chapter also is devoted to the city poor department showing the work which this department is doing.

Mr. Marshall suggests that an immediate survey should be made of the town of Grand Chute by the proper authorities as his brief investigation revealed that the lack of sewage and water systems has led to the use of contaminated water. In one place Mr. Marshall says 95 per cent of the wells in Grand Chute are contaminated. He points out the danger of an epidemic in that town spreading into Appleton.

Other suggestions made by Mr. Marshall are:

- Increased financial aid for the health department.
- Establishment of an active social service bureau.
- Establishment of a common sewage disposal farm and filter plant for the entire Fox river valley to eliminate pollution of the river.

Very Severe Eczema on Baby's Cheeks. Healed by Cuticura.

"When baby was one month old eczema broke out in pimples on her cheeks. It itched and burned so badly that she scratched all the time. After scratching it formed blisters, and later wet, sore eruptions. It was very severe and she could not sleep. She was cross and fretful and I had to tie her hands to keep her from scratching. The trouble lasted about four months.

"I tried a good many remedies but they did not do any good. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three days could see an improvement, and in two weeks she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Steve Slinka, Rt. 1, Beckett, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1928.

Forty different kinds of steel are used in the new Ford

Sturdy strength of new car due to electric welding and development of specific steels for specific parts

THE new Ford is an unusually strong and sturdy car because of the enduring quality that has been built into every part. Of especial interest and importance to every motorist is the extensive use of fine steel in the new Ford.

The story of Ford steel dates back to 1905, when the Ford Motor Company developed the use of a new alloy which raised the tensile strength of steel from 60,000 to 170,000 pounds per inch.

This was the beginning of the Ford idea of using specific steels for specific parts—an idea which has perhaps its highest expression in the new car.

In the past twenty-four years the Ford Motor Company has developed many new uses for steel and has greatly reduced its cost by purchasing its own ore mines and by designing new machines and finding new ways to produce steel at low cost.

The Ford open hearth furnaces have a yearly capacity of 420,000 tons of steel. The quality and uniformity of this steel are held to even closer limits than those specified by the Society of Automotive Engineers and the American Society for Testing Materials.

Today, more than forty different kinds of steel are used in the new Ford—each particular kind being selected and perfected to fit the particular needs of each part.

There is no limit to selection—no thought that any certain steel must be made to do for many parts to save expense. The Ford policy has always been to use the best possible material for each part, and then through large production, to give it to the public at low cost.

As important as the steel itself is the Ford method of heat-treating steel by automatic control so that the same piece of steel will have different qualities at different points.

Such high quality of material has a direct bearing on the performance of the new Ford car and is the reason it will give you thousands upon thousands of miles of uninterrupted service. Its economy of operation and up-keep are as important as its speed, safety and comfort.

LAW COMMISSION MAY GET POINTERS IN PENNSYLVANIA

Long Series of Recommendations to Speed Court Procedure Made

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington — The nearest approach to the work about to be tackled by President Hoover's law enforcement commission appears to have been made by the commission appointed by the Pennsylvania legislature to study the laws, procedure and other factors relating to crime and criminals in a state of about 10,000,000 inhabitants.

How closely the methods and findings of the Hoover commission will parallel those of the Pennsylvania crime commission cannot be forecast, but the size of Pennsylvania and the fact that it has cities and towns of all sizes as well as nearly all types of law enforcement problems makes a summary of what the minor body discovered and accomplished of national interest.

Eight prominent citizens were members of the Pennsylvania commission. Its chairman was Charles Edwin Fox, former Philadelphia district attorney and veteran penologist and social worker. Attorney General Thomas J. Baldrige was chairman ex-officio. The group was instructed in 1927 to study all matters which had relation, directly and indirectly, to the crime situation. Its term of office is about to expire.

QUESTIONED ALL JUDGES
The commission started out in a big way. It asked Chief Justice Von Moschizner to call together all the judges in Pennsylvania who had any contact at all with the administration of criminal law. The chief justice did his stuff and in April, 1928, there assembled in Philadelphia seven supreme court justices, five members of the superior court, 84 judges of the common pleas court, 10 members of the Philadelphia municipal bench, two county judges and a few others. This judicial conference is to be a continuing body, subject to the call of the chief justice.

The judges considered only the trial and sentencing of accused persons. With virtual unanimity, they passed nine resolutions as follows:

That the law forbidding adverse comment by court or counsel on a defendant's failure to testify in his own defense be repealed.

That evidence indicating that a defendant is a professional criminal be admissible in evidence in the discretion of the trial judge.

That the trial court be given the right to separate or consolidate trials of defendants jointly indicted for capital offenses.

That the examination of prospective jurors be conducted exclusively by the trial judge, subject to the right of counsel to suggest additional questions.

That the time for making appeals in criminal cases be limited to three weeks and that in all but capital cases and cases involving constitutional issues appeals should be permitted only after allowance thereof by a judge of the appellate court where the appeal lies.

That the courts be given more latitude in adopting and enforcing such rules as would expedite and standardize trial and punishment and that a uniform rule be established of four days after the trial in which motions for a new trial and in arrest of judgment must be filed.

That trial of criminal cases not involving higher felonies be permitted by a judge without a jury, if the accused voluntarily consents.

That a system of graduated penalties dependent upon the number of former convictions be incorporated in the penal system.

That the state law forbidding the maximum sentence to exceed half the maximum sentence be repealed.

ENDORSED BY COMMISSION

These proposals, all calling for legislation, would immensely increase the powers of the courts, but the crime commission endorsed them in large part. It explained in its report to the legislature early this year, that permitted comment on the defendant's failure to take the stand was the custom in many states, that all facts about criminals ought to be known to judge and jury in the past interests of society, that defendants equally guilty of the same crime were often treated differently when tried by separate juries, that the Federal Judicial Council headed by Chief Justice Taft had recommended questioning of talesmen by judges conducting federal jury trials, that a cardinal defect in administration of criminal justice is the possibility of incessant delays between original trial and final disposition of the case and that trial without jury immediately speeds up administration of criminal law.

The state District Attorneys' Association, meeting later, generally concurred with the proposals of the judges and added recommendations for higher penalties for involuntary manslaughter and more effective extradition arrangements with other states.

Fight Hay Fever Before Season Arrives, Advice

Madison—Persons sensitive to hay fever during the fall may suffer from "nose cold" in the month of June. The pollen of various shrubs, bushes, flowers and trees affect people differently. Hay fever victims should seek prevention before the season which affects them has arrived.

The educational committee of the State Medical Society of Wisconsin in a bulletin today, declares that many people suffer from the pollen of roses and timothy grass in the month of June almost as much distress as others in August when the raked bloom is at its height.

"True hay fever comes at about the same time each year and is due to a peculiar sensitiveness of some persons to the pollens of certain grasses, weeds, plants or trees. The earliest cases appear when the birch, maple and certain other trees are spreading their pollens. The next group begins to suffer some time in May or June, depending upon the weather. Contrary to general belief, roses are not usually responsible for the trouble at this time because their pollen is heavy and therefore not widely scattered. Timothy, Kentucky blue grass and red top are reported to be the chief offenders in the spring. Japanese Clematis and the virgin's power, which also belongs to the clematis family, have a hay fever pollen. Later in the year the pollen of weeds, particularly rag weed has been shown to be the usual cause of the disease.

"The modern method of treating hay fever consists first in finding out which particular pollen is responsible for the trouble. This can be determined by any physician who is equipped to make skin tests with extracts of the various suspected pollens. Such tests are neither painful nor complicated. A small quantity of each extract is introduced beneath the skin by a needle prick. Substances to which the patient is not sensitive cause no reaction but when the extract containing the offending pollen is reached a reddening of the skin, or a slight swelling or itching is produced to a local irritation. Once the cause of the discomfort is found an extract can be prepared and the treatments given by the family physician. Such inoculations prevent a fairly large proportion of cases from developing, the percentage being large enough to make it worth while to go to the necessary trouble and expense.

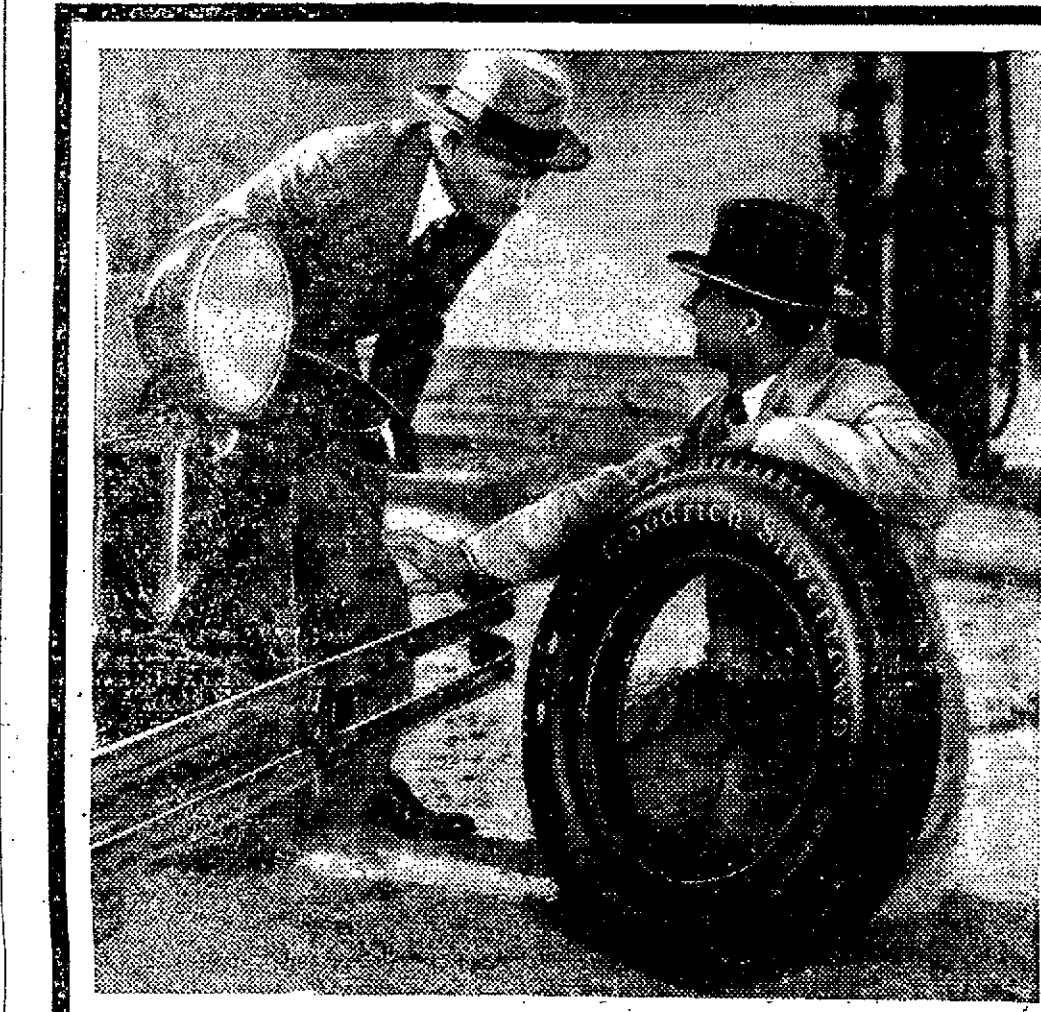

"What has been said applies only to hay fever that occurs at stated period of the year. Cases having similar symptoms, also certain types of asthma, which come at irregular times, are due either to the presence of adenoids or other nose obstructions or are the result of sensitiveness to substances such as dandruff from horses, dogs, cats or other animals; dust from feathers in pillows; hair used in mattresses; cotton; insecticide powder; talcum powder, etc. Asthma may also be caused by the use of certain foods to which the person is sensitive.

"If you suffer from hay fever or asthma it would be wise for you to find out the real cause of your trouble and take steps to prevent it now. If it is due to any of the pollens and you wait until the pollens are in the air your only recourse will be to go where such pollens are scarce."

Less Water Used Here Last Month Than In May Of 1928

There was a marked decrease in the city's consumption of water in May as compared to the corresponding month last year, according to the report of A. J. Hall, superintendent of the city pumping station and filtration plant. It is believed that the repairing of approximately 30 surface leaks during the past few months accounts for the major part of the large amount used in May, 1928, according to Mr. Hall.

During the past month 56,550,000 gallons of water were treated while in the same month a year ago 57,910,000 gallons were treated. Last month 2,028,000 gallons of water were used for filtering while in May of 1928, 2,562,000 gallons were used for washing.

The amount of water used for washing filters during May of this year was 3.5 per cent, while last year it represented 4 per cent. Approximately 54,420,000 gallons of water were pumped with the Diesel engines which consumed 5,053 gallons of oil. Last year 56,790,000 gallons were pumped with the engine and 6,489 gallons of oil were consumed. The electrical units pumped 2,160,000 gallons of water last month while a year ago they pumped 12,200,000 gallons.

HOPE THEY ALL DO
London — The very long-suffering uppers, the gentlemen who enrich the already overloaded pockets of public caterers, have received a pleasant surprise at the Empire theater, one of London's largest. On proffering tips to theater workers, they are refused, all because the management recently passed a rule against accepting them. "The offering of a gratuity will be mutually embarrassing because it will be politely refused," the program says.

STATE UNIVERSITY GIVES DEGREES TO 5 FROM APPLETON

19 Young People from Appleton and Environs in This Year's Class

Nineteen young people of Outagamie county and surrounding territory will be numbered among Wisconsin's class of 1929 when, on June 24, they will be awarded the sheepskin that represent four years of cultural absorption in the main building that tops the steep campus hill, or the professional buildings that border it. In the group are five Appleton persons: Miss Marion E. Donnelly, Burt Beck Fisher, William J. Ricker, Harvey Peter Hoefel and Wallace Marshall.

Miss Donnelly, who majored in economics, has made a comparative study of courses and methods in commercial education for her bachelor's thesis. She attended Lawrence her first two years. In her junior and senior years at the University she was a member of the Commerce Club.

Burt Beck Fisher majored in English and is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, social fraternity. Mr. Ricker who attended Lawrence his freshman and sophomore years, is graduating from the school of electrical engineering. Mr. Hoefel, a political science major, for his thesis has made a study of decisions of the Supreme Court on labor questions. He is a member of Phi Alpha Delta, legal professional fraternity.

Wallace Sydney Marshall, Appleton who received his Bachelor of arts degree a year ago, will win his Master's degree by the end of this summer school. At present he is working with the State Medical society, and is doing research work in histology on the reconstruction of cartilage of the larynx and the trachea of the human foetus. He is writing his Master's thesis on psychological quickness. Mr. Marshall was a member of the Psychology club for three years, and is a member Zeta Beta Tau fraternity. Sixteen students from nearby cities are also represented on the graduating list. A. E. Beeman, Neenah, majored in economics, and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity. He attended Lawrence his first year. Miss Florence S. Koepsel, also of Neenah, majored in applied arts. She was a member of the women's athletic association for three years, took part in class hockey her freshman year, played with the class volleyball team, made the class track team, and the varsity volleyball and track teams in her junior year. She is a member of Sigma Lambda, a national professional arts sorority, and also of Phi Mu sorority. Her thesis is "Malonates in Many Lands."

Kenneth D. Simmons, Neenah, majored in public school music, and was a member of the First Regimental concert band. He is a member of Gamma Delta fraternity. Miss Catherine E. Sommers, Neenah, majored in history, and is a member of Gamma Phi Beta, social sorority. She formerly attended Rosary college. Walter Henry Loehning, majored in accounting and is conducting an income tax investigation for his thesis. Ivan E. Williams, Neenah, a history major, wrote his thesis on the effect of change in franchise qualifications upon the election of Andrew Jackson. He played on the freshman track and tennis teams, and is a member of Phi Pi Phi, social fraternity.

Mark Eliwyn Griffith, Kaukauna, majored in speech, while Elmer J. Grimmer of the same city majored in electrical engineering. The latter is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Chi Omega Mu, and of Triangle, a social organization.
Hugh O. Sherbert, Weyauwega, completed a course in Physical Education for a university of Wisconsin Bachelor of Science degree. He was chairman of the Little International Stock finance committee, was active in freshman football, baseball, and in varsity wrestling for his first, second and third years. As a freshman he won the All-University wrestling championship. During his last two years he was a member of Athenaeus literary society and of Delta Pi Epsilon fraternity.
Miss Katherine Mary Hart, Waupaca, majored in foods. She was a member of the Arden English club for four years, and its secretary this year. She is also a member of the Euthenics club, Phi Upsilon Omicron, a national professional home economics sorority, Omicron Nu, and Phi Kappa Phi, both honoraries.
Her thesis was an analysis of menu costs.
Herman Carl Schmalenberg, New London, graduating from the college of letters and science, will go on into medicine. His thesis deals with the comparative anatomy of the brain.
Roland Antone Kuckuck, Shawano, majored in political science, will continue in the law school for a higher degree. He is graduating from the Reserve Officers Training Corps from which he has just received the commission of second lieutenant. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa, social fraternity, and is pledged to Phi Alpha Delta, professional legal fraternity.
George Henry Klosterman, Shawano, a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, is completing a general course, while Marie Augusta Schaefer, who completed a course in Home Economics last semester and has since been teaching in Milwaukee, will also return for her degree.
Karl W. Emmanuel, Shawano will receive the degree of Doctor of Medicine. He is writing his doctor's thesis on the venereal problem. He is a member of Alpha Kappa, a professional fraternity, and was a member of the Haresfoot Club. Miss Jean Elizabeth Thraethen, Shawano, majored in history, and wrote her thesis on "German-Americans in Wisconsin and the Civil War." She belonged to the Collegiate League of

SERBIANS TRY TO BREAK CHAINS OF AGE OLD CUSTOMS

Dictatorship Government Attempts to Break Fetters to Trade

Belgrade—(AP)—The sweeping away of fetters to trade and economic progress imposed by age old customs and outworn sentiment is one of the most radical reforms being undertaken by the new dictatorship government set up by King Alexander.

As an example to the business world at large, the habit of endless coffee drinking has been forbidden in government offices, the working day of civil servants has been lengthened and finally they are to lose many of the holidays they have been enjoying by the unification of the Julian and Gregorian calendars.

Serbia alone of European states has retained the Julian calendar. This has handicapped business not only with foreign countries but also with other parts of Jugoslavia where the Gregorian calendar is used.

The effort has been especially marked each year in December and January and again around Easter. In the winter there are two sets of festivities at intervals of thirteen days. Thus there are two St. Nicholas' days, two Christmases, two New Years days, and two sets of saint days of which about ten occur in January. Similar conditions prevail with the coming of spring Holy Week and Easter.

The Ministry of Religion has held several conferences with the astronomical staff of Belgrade university and has been assured that there should be no great difficulty in unifying the two methods of reckoning the passing of the years.

HOW TO INCREASE THE TRADE-IN VALUE OF YOUR CAR

LOOK FOR THE YELLOW SIGN
Every Dealer Displaying This Sign Has These Two Special Lubricants for Your Car

- 1—Alemite Chassis Lubricant—This Lubricant is used in the Alemite fittings and is especially designed to stand the high pressure which these systems produce.
- 2—Alemite Gear Lubricant—For transmissions and differentials. Especially made according to specifications of your car manufacturer.
- 3—Alemite Universal Joint Lubricant—Will not throw away from universal joints at high speeds.
- 4—Alemite Wheel Bearing Lubricant—Will lubricate wheel bearings correctly and is heavy enough so that it will not throw into brake seams and cause brake trouble.

If the maker of your car directs that special lubricants be used in universal joint and wheel bearings, ask your dealer for these approved special Alemite Lubricants:

FRENCH CONCERNED OVER MOROCCO WAR

Cabinet Discusses Possible Action as Aftermath of Ambush by Tribes

Paris (AP)—The small war in Morocco developing out of the ambush of French native troops at El Bordj on June 9 and the siege of the post at Alt Yakoub is causing much concern to the French government, and the cabinet this morning devoted part of its council session to discussion of the situation.

Minister of War Painleve told his colleagues that he had not received sufficient information to enable him to draw conclusions or to determine the real seriousness of the fighting. Parliament began consideration of all aspects of the ambush. Demand for executive measures and two interpellations of the government have already been filed.

The column which was attacked by the Moroccan tribesmen was a water detachment going to the springs to replenish the supply of fresh water. The commander disobeyed instructions which prohibited frequent trips to the same springs because the tribesmen could easily ambush the detachments.

The territory where the attack occurred is the last unoccupied section of Morocco where all the chiefs recalcitrant to French rule have been concentrated.

Official information of the French government was that 13 were killed, 19 wounded and 53 missing.

All the missing officers, as well as the dead, are French, while the soldiers are Senegalese and Moroccans.

General Freydenberg, conqueror of Abd-el-Krim, has started his march far into the dissident area with eight battalions of the Foreign Legion, amounting to nearly 10,000 men including supply trains and communications troops.

RUSH RESCUE TROOPS

Rabat, Morocco (AP)—Eight battalions of the French Foreign Legion, prize troops of the Sahara, were being rushed by detachment at the desert post, Alt Yakoub.

Two thousand dissident Moorish tribesmen have invested the post on three sides, and some fear was felt for the detail, its numbers already depleted by an ambush at the foot of the Atlas mountains June 9.

Those besieged at the post included the remainder of the two companies of Senegalese infantry and the company of Moroccan Camel corps who in the ambush, lost 13 known dead, 19 seriously wounded, and 53 others missing or dead.

Reinforcements were in the command of General Freydenberg, former priest whose valor in the Rifian war was brought promotion from colonel to general.

Maennerchor To Meet

The Maennerchor will meet tonight at 7:45 at the Maennerchor room on W. College-ave to hear for the coming concert at Calumet Harbor on June 23. Prof. A. J. Theiss will direct the singing.

BOY SCOUTS PRESENT FLAG DAY SERVICES

Eight Valley Council boy scouts presented an impressive Flag Day service at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club at Conway hotel Wednesday afternoon. They were Sheldon Hauert, Edward Eberlein, Chester Cavert, Carlton Kuck, Charles Widsteen, Charles Wilkner, Arthur Hahnen and John Fischer.

The boys demonstrated the development of the American flag from the colonial period to the present time. They distributed questionnaires which tested the knowledge of club members about the flag. Steve MacMahon, a former scout of Troop 2 of the First Methodist church, played the Star Spangled Banner on his cornet. Scouts taking part were from Troops 2, 3, 4 and 8.

Chicken Lunch at Blue Goose Inn, Saturday Night.

TEN YOUNGSTERS ON HIKE TO GREEN PATCH

Ten youngsters of the boy's department of the Y. M. C. A. led by C. G. Bailey, boys work secretary, and Carleton Roth, assistant boys work secretary, hiked to Green Patch on the upper Fox river Wednesday morning where they spent the day. Games and stunts furnished entertainment. A picnic dinner was eaten at the campsite.

HORTONVILLE JEWELER WILL OPEN STORE HERE

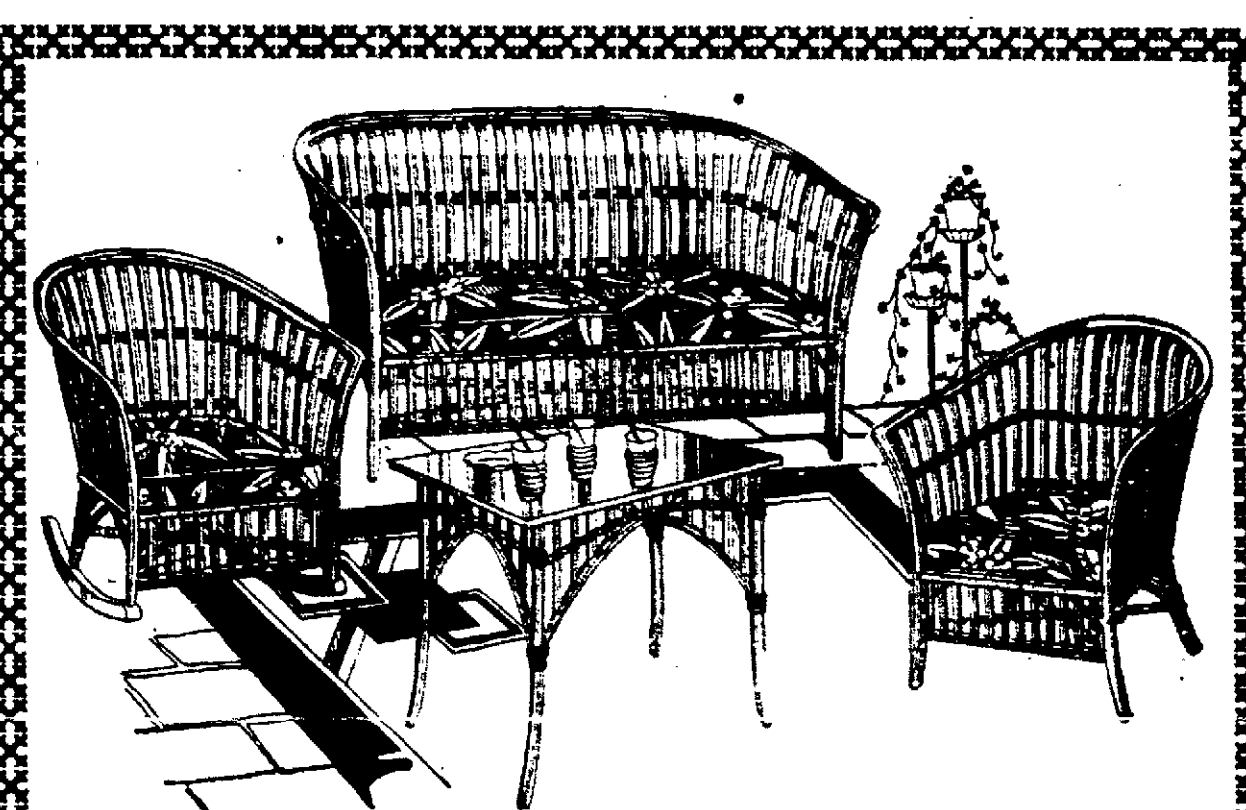

Robert S. Giben, Hortonville, will open a jewelry store at 333 W. College-ave about June 15, he announced Thursday. The site now is occupied by the Fisher Bros. piano company. Mr. Giben will only take over the front part of the establishment. The piano company will continue to occupy the rear. Mr. Giben now operates a jewelry store in Hortonville.

VALLEY SCOUT HEADS TO SPEAK AT CHICAGO MEET

M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, will appear on the speaking program at the 1929 Region Seven Scout Executives conference at the Edgewater Beach hotel, Chicago, Sept. 24 to 27. His topic will be The Scout Executive's Mission.

Harry Hertz, Oshkosh scout executive, is a member of the committee in charge of arrangements, and H. W. Winfield, Sheboygan executive, is a member of the morale committee. Walter W. Head, president of the National Scout council, will be one of the principal speakers. Dr. George J. Fischer, deputy chief scout executive, also will appear on the program.

The conference theme will be centered about the growth of the executive board of the council committees, and volunteer leaders with the hope of all centered about the proper growth of boys.

TRAFFIC ENGINEER TELLS HOW TO AVOID TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Courtesy on Highways Makes for Safety, O'Meara Avers

Madison—(P)—When a passenger of the foot hoves in sight tootle the horn trumpet to him, melodiously at first. If he still obstacles your passage, tootle him with vigor and express by word of mouth the warning "Hi! Hi!"

These and other snappy Japanese traffic warnings are quoted by E. J. O'Meara, associate traffic engineer of the state highway commission when he is telling Wisconsin motorists how to get the most enjoyment and greatest safety out of Badger highways.

Mr. O'Meara, in a recent radio address in the state university station here said the slogan: "They shall not pass," was alright in the Battle of the Marne "but not so good when applied on the highways."

He warned that many of the accidents of the roads are caused by the motorist-being-passed speeding to prevent the fellow behind from going "round him."

Other Japanese traffic code items include these, Mr. O'Meara said: "Beware of the wandering horse. Do not explode the exhaust at him. Go soothingly by or stop by the roadside till he passes away."

"Give big space to the festive dog that makes sport in the roadway and avoid entanglement of dog with wheel spokes."

"Go soothingly on the grease mud as where lurks the skid demon. Press the brake of the foot as you roll around the corners to save collapse and tie-up."

"These may sound ridiculous," Mr. O'Meara said, "but they are as conducive to courteous driving as our traffic laws; that is to say, all the laws and ordinances passed have not produced a courteous driver."

"A road cannot be built so wide but that some people will drive on the left side. Nor can one be built so fool proof that lives will not be lost. But the percentage of reckless and foolhardy drivers is on the decrease, whether due to self extermination or education."

"Poky" drivers were called a "menace to safe driving," by O'Meara. "The abnormally slow driver on heavily traveled roads causes cars traveling at normal speed to pass in the face of oncoming traffic. Some state regulate the minimum as well as the maximum speed on certain roads. People who go out for an afternoon drive are now rightly using the less frequented town and county highways to avoid the congestion on routes where motorists travel faster than they wish to go. These roads should be used if we are going to loaf along."

"A driver should attempt to pass another proceeding in the same direction near the brow of a hill, at cross roads or at curves. Wait until there is a clear vision a considerable distance ahead of the point at which you estimate the passing process will be completed."

"If you were walking along the street, about to pass another pedestrian,

Prefers Lead Arsenate To Control Weeds, Bugs

Control of weeds and insects in lawns has been the subject of considerable study on the part of scientists and one of the discoveries, more or less in the nature of a by-product of the campaign against the Japanese beetle, was the finding that arsenate of lead will not only control and practically exterminate Japanese beetles and other hard shelled insects, the June bug, being one of them, but will also drive out weeds and will not harm desirable kinds of grasses. It is a method of improving the sod in lawns and golf courses.

The grub of the June bug which seems to be occurring in increasing quantities does considerable damage during its subterranean career, eating off the roots of plants and gnawing into bulbs. The use of so simple a preventive as arsenate of lead, obtainable at all seedhouses, will be hailed by gardeners as a decided boon. The arsenate is applied with trian and each time you speeded your gait he would also quicken his step you would think him a fit subject for mental examination. Why some consider it improper to do this as a pedestrian yet proper to do it in an automobile is difficult to understand."

the usual top dressing of fertilizer for lawns already planted at the rate of five pounds to each 1,000 square feet. This is equivalent to 20 feet of a 50 foot lot or ten feet of a 100 foot lot for easy estimate of quantity needed. One application in this proportion has been found to be effective for about six years against soil infesting insects.

For newly made lawns or golf greens it should be applied at the rate of 1,500 pounds per acre and mixed with the soil.

Government scientists after several years' experiment have proved that the arsenate in the top layer of soil is a most efficient remedy for soil insect pests.

The experiment also showed that several varieties of bent, perennial rye grass, Cheving's fescue, sweet vernal grass and Kentucky blue grass will thrive in the poisoned soil. It was found that it would kill crabgrass, chickweed, dandelion and dock and would give a much purer stand of the desirable grasses. The elimination of crab grass and chickweed by the use of the arsenate will solve another problem that has proved unsolvable to the homeowners. Chickweed once in the lawn, it seemed impossible by any known method to get rid of its fine stems rooting at each joint and permeating the entire

49 LAW VIOLATORS PAY $805 IN FINES DURING LAST MONTH

Five Defendants Bound Over for Trial; 2 Dismissed; One Appeal Taken

Fines and costs paid by 49 violators in municipal court in May totaled $805.50, according to the monthly report of William R. Kreiss, municipal court reported. In addition, five defendants were bound over for trial, two cases were dismissed, and one defendant has appealed his case to a higher court.

Actual fines totaled $478. Court costs amounted to $100.50 and officers' fees totaled $226.50.

Fines collected under arrests made on city ordinances totaled $154 court costs, $54, and officers' fees, $34.55. Of the 27 persons arrested under the city ordinances all were fined. Arrests were made as follows: Parking violations, 10; car with three in front seat, 4; speeding, 4; making left turn, 2; reckless driving, 2; drunkenness, drunken driving, making U turn, interrupting funeral procession and disorderly conduct, one each.

Under county ordinances fines totaled $80, court costs $18, and officers' fees $14.10. Ten arrests were made and nine were fined. One was dismissed. Arrests were made as follows: Reckless driving, 7; driving with cut out open, 2; driving without license, one.

Twenty arrests were made by city and county officers under state laws and one of these 13 defendants were fined, five were bound over for trial, one was dismissed and another appealed his case. Fines totaled $245, court costs $34.50, and officers' fees, $181.25.

Arrests were made as follows: Failure to stop at arterial, 4; driving without a license, 2; trapping fish, 2; worthless check, 2; and one each for non-support, embezzlement, malicious destruction of property, larceny, violation of dry laws, assault and battery, practicing chiropractic without license, rape, and selling mortgaged property without consent.

LESS BUILDING IN APPLETON THIS YEAR

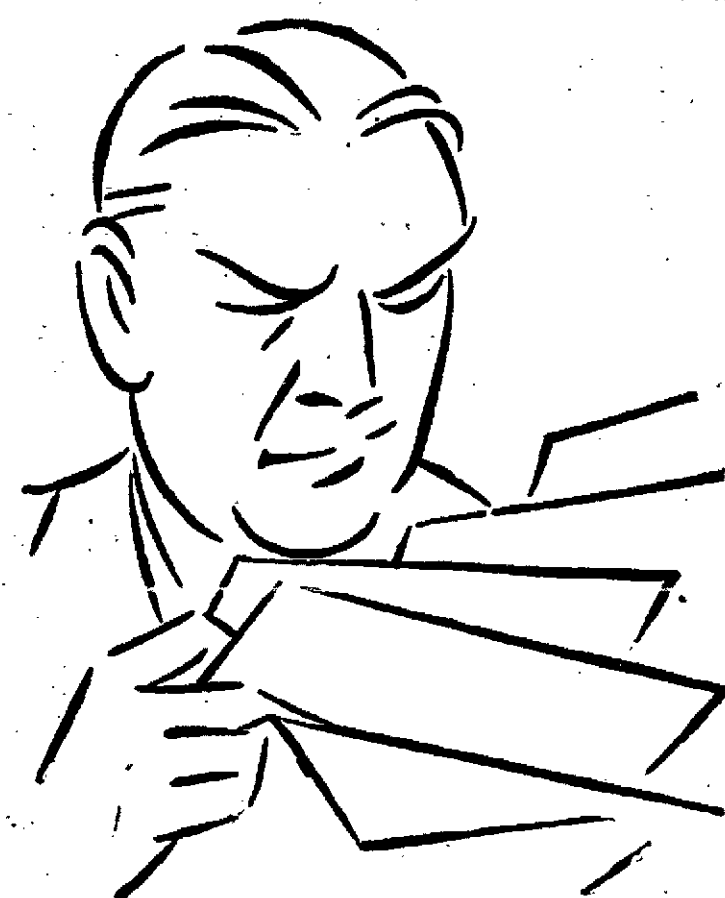

Although building and construction has been booming in Wisconsin building activities here declined during April and the early part of May, according to the national monthly building survey prepared by the S. W. Straus company, Chicago, Ill.

In April of last year the total value of permits issued here was $211,715 while in the corresponding month of this year the total was $142,820, a decrease of approximately 68.895. The total value of permits issued in the state in April of last year was $7,585,184, while in April of this year the total was $3,450,092, the report indicates.

The moisture evaporated from a single white oak in a day has been estimated to be 150 gallons of water.

Why Some Women Are So Popular

Beauty's first requisite—skin perfection. Thus, the fairest and wisest use MELLO-GLO Face Powder that spreads more smoothly and produces a youthful bloom. Its new French process makes MELLO-GLO stay on longer and bans the shiny nose. Pure! Prevents pastiness, flakiness, irritation and large pores. Use MELLO-GLO. adv.

Sunday is Dads' Day

Don't let your Dad feel neglected and forgotten when he hears his friends telling what a beautiful gift and remembrance they received for Father's Day.

A beautiful tie is the most acceptable — because men enjoy a frequent change of neckwear — plain colors or small figured patterns are most favored — and men prefer ties with our label because they are better made and of better material.
